6 Akron School Teachers Killed In Auto Crash

Big Truck Crushes Car after Crossing Highway Dividing Strip

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The death of six Akron school teachers whose car was virtually flattened in a collision with a big truck was called a tragic loss today by Martin Essex, superintendent of Akron schools.

Five of the women killed in the grinding crash on the Willow Freeway south of Cleveland taught at David Hill Elementary School. They had attended sessions of the North Eastern Ohio Teachers Association here.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Lois C. Lewis, 41; Mrs. Mildred Whited, 62; Mrs. Catherine Williamson, 52; Mrs. C. Edith Miller, 67; Mrs. Julia Ann Johnson, 57; and Mrs. Frances T. Slocum, 57, owner of the car.

Mrs. Johnson taught at Voris Elementary School.

The tragedy wiped out nearly one-fifth of the teaching staff of 27 at David Hill. Except for Mrs. Slocum, who was in her second year of teaching, all were veterans. Mrs. Johnson had taught for 33 years, Mrs. Whited 24 years.

Justin J. Gedraitis, 35, of Cleveland, driver of the truck, suffered head injuries, but his condition was reported as good in the prison ward at Metropolitan Hospital. No charges were filed.

Drivers of the two sideswiped cars were shaken up but not injured. They were identified as John Appeldorn, 22, of Cuyahoga Falls, and Eberhard Schuck, 27, of Cleveland.

Essex ordered both schools closed Monday in memory of the teachers. Harold D. Foss, principal at David Hill was shaken by news of the deaths. All he could say was: "It was a tragic thing."

Essex said in his "long association with the schools, this is the most tragic development I have ever known."

Cuyahoga Heights Police Chief Frank Bartzak said the truck crossed a 34-foot dividing strip on the Willow Freeway half a mile north of Ohio 17, brushed two other cars, then rammed the car carrying the teachers. The truck cab went over the top of the car, grinding it down against the ground. The car's windshield was hurled into a fourth car.

A nurse at the hospital told police that the trucker told her he had been driving for a long period and was tired. He said he left Cleveland at 2:30 a.m. Friday to deliver mattresses to Dayton and

JFK Aide Enters Newspaper Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz met separately with management and union representatives into the early hours today in an attempt to end a strike that has shut down the nation's largest circulation newspaper, the New York Daily News.

No progress was reported immediately as the strike entered its third day.

The New York morning paper, with a daily circulation in excess of two million, suspended publication Friday night. It had published a 16-page edition Friday morning on the presses of the afternoon Journal-American.

About 1,100 editorial and business employees of the News, members of the American Newspaper Guild, struck the newspaper at midnight Wednesday. The contract dispute's main issue revolves around wages.

Grand Jury Probe Of Rhodes Pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Franklin County grand jury, at work till 11:20 Friday night, was back in session today.

Prosecutor Earl Allison had promised to keep it active until the investigation of charges of fraud in the state auditor's office is cleared up.

Eight persons testified Friday during a marathon session which began at 9:30 a.m.

The grand jury was called at the request of Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy to investigate claims by Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

DiSalle said evidence shows examiners for the state auditor, DiSalle's gubernatorial opponent, James A. Rhodes, charged political subdivisions extra rent for state-owned adding machines used in auditing their books.

Allison, a Republican, said the jury will hear all witnesses in the case even if it means the jury has to meet on Sunday. At least three men were scheduled to testify today.

They include a representative of Ernst & Ernst, one of two accounting firms called in by Rhodes to study his records immediately after DiSalle made his charges; William Miller, one of two investigators hired by the governor to study the auditor's records, and David Purkey, an assistant to the governor who also testified Friday.

All testimony is received behind closed doors.

Following a hassle Friday morning over who was to conduct the investigation, Common Pleas Judge Robert Draper appointed Allison and ordered McElroy's first assistant, Ted Saker, to testify.

The seven witnesses who followed him in the day-night session included, in order of their testimony:

Purkey; William Morris, deputy state auditor; Ray H. Catlett, operator of Typewriter Exchange of Columbus where the questioned adding machines were purchased; Robert Skelton of Coshocton, a former state auditor's examiner who left the department in June 1959 and now is with the Ohio Highway Department; Philip Pistorio, one of two investigators hired by DiSalle; Frank Reed of Fairfield, an auditor's examiner, and Lyle Harbold of Cincinnati, chief examiner for District 8.

Rhodes, who was campaigning Friday night in the Youngstown area, contends the investigation earlier this week by Ernst & Ernst and Price Waterhouse has proven DiSalle's charges false.

Rhodes said rental was charged on new machines but only until they were paid for.

Earlier Friday, Rhodes issued a statement in which he said: "Total rental purchase charges for adding machines by state examiners to State of Ohio local subdivisions were $8,482.70."

"The state received for that money 25 new Victor adding machines and two portable typewriters having a value of $8,482.70."

"The above was completely verified by Ernst & Ernst and Price Waterhouse Co. during the recent audit-examination of the transactions."

DiSalle, however, said, "The records that were presented to the accounting firms were not the records upon which the charges were based," adding:

"We are convinced that this is only the beginning and that once we have an opportunity to make a complete audit, it will be multiplied many times, not only adding machines but to other machines."

The state auditor also asserted the administration of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, his Democratic opponent in next Tuesday's election, "has now publicly confessed its failure to provide a jobs and industry program," adding:

"The administration request for federal aid for 20 areas in Ohio clashed with its contention that Ohio has no unemployment problem."

Rhodes said the Youngstown area had an average of 3,134 persons drawing unemployment compensation during one week of October 1961, compared with 6,360 this October.

"As governor," he said, "I will embark upon an aggressive campaign to erase the stigma of joblessness which now marks thousands of ready, willing and able Ohio breadwinners."

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP)—The last tank filled with deadly chlorine gas is scheduled to be raised from the Mississippi River Sunday or Monday.

Castro Gives Mikoyan Big Bear Hug

HAVANA (AP)—A warm bear hug from Fidel Castro welcomed Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan to Havana Friday at the start of his fence-mending mission in the wake of the Soviet decision to pull its missiles out of Cuba.

Russia's chief troubleshooter and the Cuban prime minister drove off from the airport together in a black U.S.-made Cadillac and reportedly got right down to a discussion of the discrepancies that Castro said had arisen between his government and its friends in the Kremlin.

Neither man made any statement to newsmen, but they talked together for more than five minutes at the foot of the airliner steps in full view of the welcoming party.

Mikoyan's visit is seen as a strong Soviet bid to reassure Castro of Communist support despite Premier Khrushchev's decision to withdraw the Soviet missiles.

Before leaving New York Mikoyan endorsed Castro's five demands against the United States, including the evacuation of the Guantanamo Naval Base, as conditions for a Cuban settlement.

But New York sources expected Mikoyan to press Castro to admit international inspectors to examine the missile sites, in accordance with Khrushchev's agreement with Kennedy.

Martins Ferry Crash Is Fatal to Couple

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio (AP)—Two persons were killed and two injured critically early today in a head-on auto collision on Ohio 7 here.

Thomas Neeley, 31, of Rayland, Jefferson County, driver of one of the cars, and his passenger, Marion Dellatore, 33, of Tiltonsville lost their lives.

Police said the car driven by Charles Bell, 36, of Martins Ferry crossed the center line. Bell and his wife, Dorothy, 31, were in poor condition.

JFK Is Seeking Speed-Up for Rocket Removal

Red Cross Inspection Hinted in Cuban Crisis; Surveillance Continues

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy was reported ready today to enter into special international inspection arrangements to clear ships through the U.S. naval blockade, and thus apparently speed removal of Soviet missiles from Cuba.

An agreement — which U.N. sources reported to be near — to have the International Red Cross inspect Cuba-bound ships could clear away a roadblock and hasten arrival of Soviet ships to pick up the missiles and haul them home.

Kennedy told the nation in a brisk two-minute television and radio broadcast Friday night that aerial photographs made Thursday show that the Russians were tearing down their missile bases in Cuba.

But the President declared the tight U.S. sea and air surveillance of Cuba would be maintained until satisfactory international inspection procedures are substituted or until "the threat to peace posed by these offensive weapons is gone."

At the same time, he indicated the United States was ready to consider various means of inspection. This suggested a broadening, as to means, of the requirement he had laid down for U.N. inspection and verification.

"While the quarantine remains in effect," the President said, "we are hopeful that adequate procedures can be developed for international inspection of Cuba-bound cargoes. The International Committee of the Red Cross, in our view, would be an appropriate body."

Yemen Ready For Attack

Arabia Gets Warning From Rebel Forces

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Revolutionary Yemen massed land, sea and air forces against Saudi Arabia today. The Egypt-backed republican government talked grimly of a showdown with the monarchist neighbor.

San'a radio in Yemen's remote capital quoted leaders of the 36-day-old revolutionary regime in stormy challenges to Saudi Arabian King Saud and Jordanian King Hussein, warning the former of imminent attack if royalist military forays from across the Arabia border continue.

Yemeni Vice Premier and Foreign Minister Abdul Rahman al-Baydany charged that 5,000 Arabian and Jordanian troops had tried to invade Yemen in the last two days. His regime was acting now only in self defense, he said.

Saud and Hussein have championed the cause of the deposed Yemeni king, Imam Mohammed al-Badr, providing him with military support in his campaign to topple the revolutionary regime. The royalists claim victories in northern Yemen.

Baydany said the government armies had started marching to the north and the navy was sailing northward in the Red Sea from the modern port of Hodeida. The Yemeni air force—believed including Soviet-built fighters provided by the United Arab Republic—was ready, Baydany said, to set up a "flaming air belt" along the frontier.

The military buildup brought the danger of a large-scale confrontation in battle between the two great antagonistic forces in the Arab world, the monarchists led by Saud and Hussein, and the republicans who look to Egypt's President Nasser for guidance and material support.

Dayton Sirens Flunk CD Test

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The Miami Valley Civil Defense Authority will be making some immediate changes in its siren alerting system.

Authority Director Dickson T. Burrows said he was glad it was only a test Friday, but added it taught officials what they wanted to know.

In the downtown Dayton area, sirens—which should have been heard loud and clear—were barely audible.

And of three huge gasoline motor-driven sirens at nearby Wright-Patterson Air Force Base—which should have been heard for miles—only one worked.

In another Ohio incident Thursday, at Norwalk, hitchhiker John Moore of Akron got the same treatment as the two Charleston hitchhikers.

Even Tourist Guides Bound By Secrecy in Key West

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The tight-lipped policy surrounding the military buildup in this city 90 miles from Cuba appears to have extended to the town tour guides.

The drivers of the "Conch Train" that Rambles through Key West streets carrying tourists, hustle the sightseers right past barbed wire barricades, sand-bagged machine gun positions, black-painted submarines and anti-aircraft missiles without giving them a passing mention.

The guides interrupt their prepared spiel only once in the two-hour tour to comment on the obvious buildup.

"Here you see a little of the equipment the Army brought down," the guide says, in the understatement of the month, as the train—a jeep decorated like a railroad locomotive pulling miniature observation cars—rolls past the missiles stacked in their launchers.

Actually, the guides are even tight-lipped about the Civil War.

They point out two forts built here during that conflict, but fail to mention their origin or purpose.

This may be a new high in security even for Key West, where GIs in the past few days have even refused to give their names to pretty girls trying to scrape up an acquaintance.

The Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force all rushed units to Key West, closest American territory to Cuba, when the crisis over Soviet missile bases erupted. They all arrived with orders to ignore newsmen on sight.

Even the fellow in charge of telling reporters that the men can't give out their names can't give out his name.

And the only way reporters can get on the Navy's ship base is to disguise themselves as tourists and take the dollar tour, which runs right through there.

Champs Subdue Stubborn Trace Panthers, 14-6

Undisputed Crown First For CHS Since 1950; Perfect Season Eyed

By STEVE JONES

The Circleville High School football team wrapped up its first undisputed South Central Ohio League crown since 1950 with a 14-6 victory over a fired-up Miami Trace grid squad last night.

The game, played on the Corwin St. Gridiron, was a hard fought battle all the way. Both teams played the type of ball worthy of a championship tilt. And the estimated 4,500 fans who braved the threatening weather were not disappointed.

It was probably the biggest crowd to view a Circleville football game this year. Miami Trace followers filled the bleachers on the north side of the field and were standing around the edges. The picture was the same on the Roundtown side.

Joy reigned supreme in the Tiger dressing room following the game. Nearly everybody who walked into the locker area made a trip to the showers with a little help from a happy bunch of players. Coaches John Adler and Dick Fisher came out of the shower room soaking wet.

HEAD COACH Carl Benhase somehow escaped a soaking by the jubilant champs. Benny noted that he would be ready for a trip to the showers next week of the Tigers came through with an undefeated season.

From the time the Tigers took the ball early in the opening period until the end it was evident that Miami Trace had the strongest of desires to win.

Trace's Dave Craig received the kickoff of the game on his own 20 and ran it back to the 28.

In three plays Trace was unable to gain more than five yards and with 10:28 in the first quarter Bob Smith punted to the Circleville 25 yard line — a 42 yard kick from scrimmage.

The Tigers, in their first turn with the pigskin, moved from their 25 to the 41 before a determined Panther defense held for downs. Duke Fyffe got off a hurried, but dandy punt that bounced dead on the Miami Trace 10.

Again the visitors were held without gaining a first down and they punted with 4:47 to go in the quarter.

GI Is Killed In Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A U.S. Army sergeant flying as a crewman on an escort helicopter was hit by Communist fire today and died before reaching Saigon.

The sergeant, whose name was not released, was aboard one of five U.S. Army turbine powered HU-1A escort helicopters.

Armed with rockets and machine guns, these helicopters are used to protect lightly armed troop-carrying helicopters from ground fire.

The helicopter was hit 90 miles southwest of here near the Mekong River delta town of Vinh Long. This was the first casualty suffered by escort helicopters, which have been in action only about one month.

San'a radio in Yemen's remote capital quoted leaders of the 36-day-old revolutionary regime in stormy challenges to Saudi Arabian King Saud and Jordanian King Hussein, warning the former of imminent attack if royalist military forays from across the Arabian border continue.

Yemen Vice Premier and Foreign Minister Abdul Rahman al-Baydany charged that 5,000 Arabian and Jordanian troops had tried to invade Yemen in the last two days. His regime was acting now only in self defense, he said.

Saud and Hussein have championed the cause of the deposed Yemeni king, Imam Mohammed al-Badr, providing him with military support in his campaign to topple the revolutionary regime. The royalists' claim victories in northern Yemen.

Baydany said the government armies had started marching to the north and the navy was sailing northward in the Red Sea from the modern port of Hodeida.

The Yemeni air force—believed including Soviet-built fighters brought by the United Arab Republic—was ready, Baydany said, to set up a "flaming air belt" along the frontier.

The military buildup brought the danger of a large-scale confrontation in battle between the two great antagonistic forces in the Arab world, the monarchists led by Saud and Hussein, and the republicans who look to Egypt's President Nasser for guidance and material support.

Dayton Sirens Flunk CD Test

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The Miami Valley Civil Defense Authority will be making some immediate changes in its siren alerting system.

Authority Director Dickson T. Burrows said he was glad it was only a test Friday, but added it taught officials what they wanted to know.

In the downtown Dayton area, sirens—which should have been heard loud and clear—were barely audible.

And of three huge gasoline motor-driven sirens at nearby Wright-Patterson Air Force Base—which should have been heard for miles—only one worked.

In another Ohio incident Thursday, at Norwalk, hitchhiker John Moore of Akron got the same treatment as the two Charleston hitchhikers.

Burning House's Owner Fires Shots at Firemen

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—Police had to help firefighters rescue Joseph Bunch, 39, from his burning house Friday before firemen could douse the blaze.

Sheriff's deputies said firemen were kept from approaching the house because Bunch fired several shots.

They moved in after Police Chief John Fritz of Loveland grabbed Bunch's arm through a window and held him. Deputies said Bunch, a plant guard, was despondent and had threatened his family.

Even Tourist Guides Bound By Secrecy in Key West

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The tight-lipped policy surrounding the military buildup in this city 90 miles from Cuba appears to have extended to the town tour guides.

The drivers of the "Conch Train" that Rambles through Key West streets carrying tourists, hustle the sightseers right past barbed wire barricades, sand-bagged machine gun positions, black-painted submarines and anti-aircraft missiles without giving them a passing mention.

The guides interrupt their prepared spiel only once in the two-hour tour to comment on the obvious buildup.

"Here you see a little of the equipment the Army brought down," the guide says, in the understatement of the month, as the train—a jeep decorated like a railroad locomotive pulling miniature observation cars—rolls past the missiles stacked in their launchers.

Actually, the guides are even tight-lipped about the Civil War. They point out two forts built here during that conflict, but fail to mention their origin or purpose.

This may be a new high in security even for Key West, where GIs in the past few days have even refused to give their names to pretty girls trying to scrape up an acquaintance.

The Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force all rushed units to Key West, closest American territory to Cuba, when the crisis over Soviet missile bases erupted. They all arrived with orders to ignore newsmen on sight.

Even the fellow in charge of telling reporters that the men can't give out their names can't give out his name.

And the only way reporters can get on the Navy's ship base is to disguise themselves as tourists and take the dollar tour, which runs right through there.

First American Arms Rushed To Indian Army on Frontier

NEW DELHI (AP)—The first plane loads of American weapons for the hard-pressed Indian army arrived today and were rushed northward to troops bracing for a threatened new drive by Chinese Communist forces.

Two American C135 transports from Germany landed in Calcutta with automatic rifles, mortars, anti-personnel mines and other equipment to beef up outnumbered Indian forces facing the well equipped Communists. But U.S. Ambassador John K. Galbraith told Indians they should not hope for magic results.

A steady stream of the American jet transports, arriving at the rate of one every three hours, will continue the arms buildup. Heavier equipment, such as tanks was expected by ship within a few weeks.

The U.S. weapons were headed to camps immediately behind the front lines on the northeast frontier, Indian officers said. Indian troops were driven back in this strategic area, above the thickly settled plains of Assam, in an initial Chinese onslaught that one India officer called a massacre.

Chinese forces have paused in their drive for several days, apparently waiting for reinforcements.

Additional military attaches arrived at the U.S. Embassy here, evidently to instruct Indians in the use of complicated equipment that was expected later.

In London, American and British officials conferred on coordinating arms shipments that up to now have gone separately. The talks also covered proposals to put all aid on a lend-lease basis.

GI Is Killed In Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A U.S. Army sergeant flying as a crewman on an escort helicopter was hit by Communist fire today and died before reaching Saigon.

The sergeant, whose name was not released, was aboard one of five U.S. Army turbine powered HU-1A escort helicopters.

Armed with rockets and machine guns, these helicopters are used to protect lightly armed troop-carrying helicopters from ground fire.

The helicopter was hit 90 miles southwest of here near the Mekong River delta town of Vinh Long. This was the first casualty suffered by escort helicopters, which have been in action only about one month.

Champs Subdue Stubborn Trace Panthers, 14-6

Undisputed Crown First For CHS Since 1950; Perfect Season Eyed

By STEVE JONES

The Circleville High School football team wrapped up its first undisputed South Central Ohio League crown since 1950 with a 14-6 victory over a fired-up Miami Trace grid squad last night.

The game, played on the Corwin St. Gridiron, was a hard fought battle all the way. Both teams played the type of ball worthy of a championship tilt. And the estimated 4,500 fans who braved the threatening weather were not disappointed.

It was probably the biggest crowd to view a Circleville football game this year. Miami Trace followers filled the bleachers on the north side of the field and were standing around the edges. The picture was the same on the Roundtown side.

Joy reigned supreme in the Tiger dressing room following the game. Nearly everybody who walked into the locker area made a trip to the showers with a little help from a happy bunch of players. Coaches John Adler and Dick Fisher came out of the shower room soaking wet.

HEAD COACH Carl Benhase somehow escaped a soaking by the jubilant champs. Benny noted that he would be ready for a trip to the showers next week of the Tigers came through with an undefeated season.

From the time the Tigers took the ball early in the opening period until the end it was evident that Miami Trace had the strongest of desires to win.

Trace's Dave Craig received the kickoff of the game on his own 20 and ran it back to the 28.

In three plays Trace was unable to gain more than five yards and with 10:28 in the first quarter Bob Smith punted to the Circleville 25 yard line — a 42 yard kick from scrimmage.

The Tigers, in their first turn with the pigskin, moved from their 25 to the 41 before a determined Panther defense held for downs.

Duke Fyffe got off a hurried, but dandy punt that bounced dead on the Miami Trace 10.

Again the visitors were held without gaining a first down and they punted with 4:47 to go in the quarter.

Medical Society Has Hopes Of Immunizing Entire County

The Pickaway County Medical Society hopes to immunize each of the county's 35,000 residents tomorrow with Type I Sabin or a polio vaccine.

Ten vaccination centers will be open between 11 a. m. and 4 p. m. in the all-out effort to rid the county of the crippling disease.

The printed form in today's Herald may be completed by those planning to take the vaccine. Advance completion will eliminate standing in line tomorrow, the medical society stated, although forms will be provided at each of the centers.

A donation of 25 cents will be accepted from persons receiving the vaccine. However, the medical society has pointed out that no citizen will be refused the vaccine if they do not make a donation.

THE Sabin vaccine is administered orally. Two drops of the drug are placed into a small cup of distilled water. The liquid is tasteless, doctors inform.

The vaccine is given in three different doses at regular intervals. Three types of vaccine are necessary for complete protection against polio since there are three different types of the disease.

Drs. H. H. Swope and Frank Moore, local co-chairmen of the polio program, today urged everyone over six-weeks-old to take the vaccine to insure "complete victory over polio in Pickaway County."

ate agent in this matter." U.S. and Soviet officials were reported to be near an agreement at the United Nations on a plan to permit the International Red Cross to inspect Cuba-bound ships.

However, the President spoke of the need for international inspection in a broader context. He emphasized that the chief U.S. concern was verification of removal of all offensive weapons from Cuban territory.

The other major inspection problem, that of verifying the dismantling of bases and other Soviet offensive weapons in Cuba, is assumed here to be a major topic of the Havana discussions between Castro and Anastas I. Mikoyan, the Soviet Union's first deputy premier.

In Geneva, the International Red Cross Committee formally declared its willingness today to help supervise dismantling of Soviet rockets and bases on Cuba, if all parties agree.

A spokesman told newsmen the all-Swiss humanitarian organization is sending its former president, Paul Ruegger, to New York to meet with U.N. Acting Secretary-General U. Thant. Ruegger, former Swiss minister in Rome, will leave here early next week.

The spokesman declined to elaborate, saying only that the task expected of the committee "goes far beyond the traditional humanitarian activities of this institution."

"But in the superior interest of peace and of the populations affected by the blockade the committee is willing to lend its good offices to the United Nations, on the express condition that all three interested parties give their government."

Nixon Aide Sues Dems For $2 Million

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Richard M. Nixon's campaign manager charges in a $2-million damage suit that Democrats are "furiously peddling smears" in an effort to alienate Nixon from Negro and Jewish voters.

This charge, emphatically denied by Democratic leaders, is the latest in a series of legal actions that have suddenly made the courtroom an important battleground in California's turbulent gubernatorial campaign.

H. R. Haldeman, campaign manager of the Nixon-for-Governor Committee, charged in a Superior Court damage action filed Friday that "one piece of Democratic literature implied falsely that the former vice president was anti-Semitic" and another falsely impugned his honesty.

Democratic campaign officials denied they had anything to do with the political leaflets named by Haldeman.

Haldeman's suit is one of five legal actions that have been brought in the last month of the campaign.

The Democratic State Central Committee has obtained three different restraining orders prohibiting further distribution of campaign material attributed to the Republicans.

There was a massive tieup of rush-hour traffic along the freeway while the cab was jacked up to get at the bodies in the car.

Edward M. Hayes, 39, said he thought he would be killed in the accident. He is an advertising salesman from the Cleveland Press and News.

Hayes said he saw the car containing the teachers when he got out of the freeway.

"I got behind them and stayed two car lengths behind as I usually do in heavy traffic," he said.

"All of a sudden I saw a truck coming across the center strip, its bright lights shining in my eyes. I thought, 'This is it.'"

"I heard the impact of tearing, screaming steel and then my car smashed into this golden beige Dodge in front of me. There was absolute silence."

Hayes, not injured, said he got out of his car and went over to the truck to look for a fire extinguisher, but couldn't find one. "I saw the truck driver writhing in pain," he said.

"I turned to the women's car thinking I could help someone out, but I knew nobody was getting out of that car."

"A bus loaded with high school students also going south stopped and a tall priest got out and began administering last rites."

Skewered Timetable

In placing responsibility for the threat to the Western Hemisphere on the Kremlin—where it belongs—instead of on the dupe Castro, President Kennedy wrecked the communist timetable.

Moscow goes through the motions of continuing its dual role of fulminating and whining, but without the usual communist vigor. It has been placed on the defensive. A new timetable must be created, and it isn't easy.

Khrushchev scented success in Cuba, as is abundantly clear from the frantic speed of construction of missile sites and the number of Russian ships en route to Havana when the boom fell.

The long wait for the showdown, the frustration created by the erection of the Berlin wall and the transformation of Cuba into a bristling communist military base, will no longer be ignored. The risks are great, but they are being faced with calm determination and renewed pride. The risks would have grown from day to day had no action been taken.

Latin American nations have shed their reluctance to move against Cuba and support the U. S. stand unanimously. This was a blow to the Kremlin which had relied on the possibility of important defections.

Washington now has seized the initiative so long exercised by the Soviet Union. It is inconceivable that it will be relinquished while the communist worldwide threat exists. The reptile is squirming, but it must not be permitted to strike out in a new direction from this day onward.

Happy New Year

News comes from Washington that the 1962 income tax forms are rolling from the Government Printing Office presses. They will not be much different from the 1961 edition. The taxpayer's signature line, for example, is being shifted from page 1 to page 2 on Form 1040.

In a way this is reassuring, for in the past announcements that 1040 had been simplified stirred hopes that were seldom realized. Last year 1040 was cut from four pages to two, but the accompanying instructions seemed as bulky and baffling as ever.

Perhaps this is inevitable. Back in 1958 Senator Watkins of Utah, stumped by a 212-word sentence in the instruction pamphlet, offered a prize to anyone who could rewrite it more briefly and clearly. More than 600 tried, but none was able to improve on the government's English to the judges' satisfaction. A Michigan engineer came closest, but his version, while shorter, was deemed too vulnerable to misinterpretation.

Obscurity seems unavoidable in forms that are designed to cover a multitude of different situations and circumstances. So most taxpayers who are not public accountants or tax lawyers—and even they sometime get confused—will go on being bewildered by all the business about nets and grosses and what's deductible and trying to find the elusive schedule that refers to line 18.

Although the government is installing equipment that will ultimately process all returns by automation, Internal Revenue Commissioner Caplin reassuringly opines that "our type of tax system cannot operate effectively without the human element." Anyway it is interpreted, that, it would seem, is the understatement of the year.

Castro Must Go

The Cuban Affair cannot be regarded as closed as long as Fidel Castro remains at the head of the Cuban state.

He is a Communist by his own declaration. As far back as 1948, Fidel Castro was involved in a Communist uprising in Bogota, Colombia. It was called the Bogotazo. Fidel Castro, with two Cuban students, were ordered to leave the country by an airplane furnished by the Cuban Embassy.

The Secretary of the Bogota Conference of 1948 was Roy Rubottom who was First Secretary of the American Embassy in Bogota. His associate in Bogota from 1947-1949 was William Wieland. It was this team of Rubottom and Wieland who made it possible for Castro to seize power in Cuba.

Of course, it is not possible to pinpoint the final responsibility for a national error; nevertheless, it is an amazing coincidence that these two men emerged as sponsors for Castro. It is even more surprising that even after the publication of the Eastland reports, these men remain in public service.

President Kennedy has inherited, as every President must, a great many errors of judgement and of act which may lead to entanglements that may be of greater or lesser consequence. Ours is a continuous government and the day a President takes over, all policies and actions of the United States, not from the day he takes over but from the establishment of our government, become his responsibility. He may in a four or eight year period make a greater or lesser alteration, but he cannot change the course of events.

For instance, our basic difficulties today grow out of the Tehran and Yalta Conferences in the Roosevelt Administration, out of the Potsdam Conference in the Truman Administration and out of modifications of the Monroe Doctrine which began in the Hoover Administration, and were intensified in the Roosevelt, Truman, and Eisenhower Administrations. This was President Kennedy's inheritance. In addition he was faced by CIA activities which resulted in the Bay of Pigs fiasco.

Our people forget their inevitable slow process of change and assume that such an arrangement as "the Kennedy Administration" can function differently from "the Eisenhower Administration" overnight. It takes almost the first half of the first term of a President to make himself master of the enormous bureaucracy for which he is responsible to the American people.

When President Kennedy took office, the Cuban situation was fully developed with Castro, a Soviet agent, in charge. His task was to determine if he would reassert the Monroe Doctrine, invade Cuba, get rid of Castro and risk a Korean-type war. He chose forbearance in the hope of being able to concentrate on Berlin and to recapture the initiative in the American continents.

It was a difficult political manoeuvre and ran counter to public opinion which cried out for immediate action, particularly as it became clearer that Castro was a Soviet puppet. President Kennedy withstood the pressure of public opinion until the situation was just right for an immediate rather than a general purpose. The Sino-Indian War undoubtedly played some part in that decision. The danger of having atomic missiles in Cuba also affected the situation. The country was unanimously in support of the President. The Republicans were even more insistent than the Democrats that there had to be action. Only a few "accommodationists" believed that nothing could be done.

The one flaw in the President's action was to give the impression that he had promised not to invade Cuba. Actually that could not be promised to Khrushchev because Castro still is in Cuba and Castro remains a propagandistic if not a military menace. He can still upset the balance in other Latin American countries. To is a peril to the Western World. Castro must go.

Sooner or later the President will have to face that. The appointment of John J. McCloy, George W. Ball, and Roswell L. Gilpatrick to handle the crisis is most fortunate. These are solid citizens, excellent negotiators and sound of judgement. No man has had more experience in handling difficult negotiations than McCloy and he is not likely to be tricked by Castro. The President in this crisis is using talent to meet a tough situation.

Nevertheless, no one can satisfy American public opinion unless Castro goes and pronto.

Baby Grew up

STANHOPE, N.H. (AP)—When Wayne Day decided to befriend a baby eagle he found on the shore of Notre Dame Bay near here about two months ago, he didn't realize what he was getting into. The eagle now has a wing spread of seven feet and keeps him busy feeding it up to 12 pounds of food a day.

THE LIBRARY of the Atlantic Insurance Company boasts the most complete set of marine disasters in the world. "I'll bet," joked a broker, "they even have a record of Noah's Ark." Inquiry proved that somebody at the insurance company had an excellent sense of humor, because back came this dossier: "Built about 2448 B.C. Gopher wood, pitched within and without. Length: 320 cubits, width, 52 cubits, height 35 cubits. Three decks. Equipped to carry animals. Owners: Noah and Sons. Last reported stranded on peak of Mount Ararat."

With nary one fish to show for his day with rod and reel, an amateur fisherman stopped at a market on the way home and thoughtfully bought a dozen trout. He then ordered the fish man to throw them to him one at a time. "When I tell my wife," he explained to the mystified fish man, "that I catch fish—I CATCH THEM!"

An anxious young suitor inquired of the proverbial younger brother the whereabouts of his beloved. "Keep your shirt on," counseled said younger brother. "She's upstairs working on her acceptance speech."

Herb Stein maintains that behind every great man there's a woman—and if he keeps running it will stay that way.

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.
Could you have a womb cancer? Cancer of the womb neck grows for months without any symptoms.

Infection, childbirth or irritation may leave the neck of the womb vulnerable to cancer. Extra female hormones multiply the danger.

Most of the early cancers can be cured. But you have to seek them out and destroy them while they're still lurking silently. That's why you need a pelvic examination and "Pap" test at least once a year.

The Pap test is merely a microscopic hunt for cancer cells in womb-neck secretion. As these cancers grow, you'll notice bleeding or spotting, especially after walking, marital intimacy or other exertion.

A thick discharge begins as infection sets in. If you're over 35 with unusual bleeding or discharge—or a previous doubtful Pap test—the odds against cancer of the womb neck drop from 200 to 1 to 30 to 1.

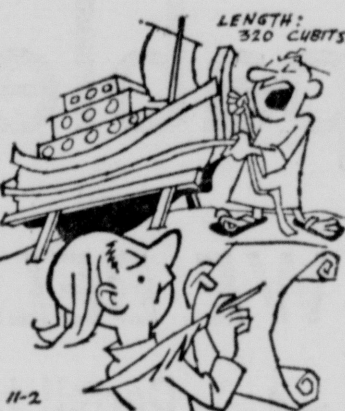

Now you should have a pelvic examination and Pap test at least twice a year.

Spain's bullfight season is coming to a close after a highly successful year and everybody is happy. That is all except the more than 6,000 bulls who bit the dust.

Bullfighting in Spain is a multi-million dollar business. That's playing for high stakes—or should it be "steaks"?

Spain, we read, has some 85 seasoned professional matadors. Only the bulls, it seems, are amateurs.

There are seven "big league" bullfights (out of a total of 250) in Spain, with two each being in Madrid and Barcelona—which makes those two towns the Chicago and Los Angeles of the snort-and-paw circuit.

One way to avoid getting soaked in the bankroll is to stay out of football pools.

To the Editor:

What has happened to the pleasant atmosphere at Berger Hospital and the Doctors who patronize it?

Being a taxpayer, I am certainly for the progress of a good hospital in our community, but not when the personnel running it turns us against it by their sour and independent attitude towards patients and their families.

Fifteen years ago, I was a maternity patient at Berger. I can remember a very friendly attitude from all the personnel I came in contact with. Eleven years ago, again I was a maternity patient and the friendly atmosphere still existed.

Eight years ago I took one of my children to the emergency room. Our family Doctor, at that time, was out of town. Although the nurse on duty was pleasant and concerned, she could not locate the doctor who was supposed to be on call that night. The result was our taking the child to a Columbus hospital to have a foreign object removed from his throat.

About two weeks ago, one of our children had a mysterious seizure in the middle of the night. By the time we got him to Berger Hospital he was almost over it. The nurses came out of the emergency door with a stretcher cart and when told of the neglect of not having a blanket on it to cover the patient from the chilly night air, they thought it a funny joke.

When we let them know we didn't think it funny, the nurse in charge accused us of insulting her. After getting into the emergency room, the nurse called our family doctor. He in turn prescribed medication from the nurses' prescription of the patient's condition.

Since this child (a teen-ager) had never had any illness or seizure of this kind, we requested our doctor to come to the hospital to examine him and to reassure us that it was safe to take him back home.

When the doctor finally arrived, he was in such an angry fit of rage that he demanded we find another family doctor.

After half-heartedly examining our child he asked the nurse what the patient's temperature was. When she replied 98.4, I wonder if she has unbelievable powers, because she neglected to take the child's temperature at all.

Instead of being interested in our child's condition and kindly reassuring us about it, the doctor reprimanded us about a political sign on our car which he apparently didn't approve of.

I am wondering if other doctors of our community have been guilty of these kind of actions in front of their patients?

I do know there are some excellently qualified doctors in our county. We believed we had put our health and trust in one of them.

The only kindness and reassurance we got from Berger Hospital that night was from the lady to whom we paid the bill.

Why isn't there more people like her at Berger?

They aren't in as much need of having a levy passed as they are of a change of attitude from the personnel. If they continue to turn their patients against them, they won't have any use for the expansion they are so desperately in need of.

As a result we took our child to another doctor, in another county, one who is completely interested in his patient's health instead of his political beliefs.

A DISAPPOINTED TAXPAYER

To the Editor:

I have been reading in the paper the reasons why we should or should not vote for the levy for Berger Hospital.

My attention was drawn to the letter that told of emergency treatment being refused and the refusal to call a doctor.

I have had some experience with emergencies at Berger Hospital. In 1950 my husband was severely burned in a gasoline explosion.

He was given emergency treatment at Berger Hospital. Because of the lack of facilities there, medical personnel had to send him on to a Columbus hospital where he stayed for three months.

I'm sure most people remember what the winter of 1950-51 was like. Our family was required to make regular drives to Columbus to visit my husband. It would have been much easier if we could have driven the short distance to Berger Hospital.

About a year ago my son's family was visiting with us. On the way home, his young son, 2½, was accidentally thrown from the car.

He was rushed to Berger Hospital where emergency treatment was administered immediately. Being very upset, I called the hospital to find out how bad the baby was hurt.

Not only was the nurse very kind, but Dr. Hedges, who administered the treatment, talked to me and was very reassuring and kind. Believe me, that meant a lot.

So please, let's don't allow one incident to cloud our judgment—or cause us to judge all by the actions of a few.

We never know when we will need Berger Hospital, her doctors and her nurses. Don't let her down when she so desperately needs your yes vote for the levy on Nov. 6.

Skewered Timetable

In placing responsibility for the threat to the Western Hemisphere on the Kremlin—where it belongs—instead of on the dupe Castro, President Kennedy wrecked the communist timetable.

Moscow goes through the motions of continuing its dual role of fulminating and whining, but without the usual communist vigor. It has been placed on the defensive. A new timetable must be created, and it isn't easy.

Khrushchev scented success in Cuba, as is abundantly clear from the frantic speed of construction of missile sites and the number of Russian ships en route to Havana when the boom fell.

The long wait for the showdown, the frustration created by the erection of the Berlin wall and the transformation of Cuba into a bristling communist military base, will no longer be ignored. The risks are great, but they are being faced with calm determination and renewed pride. The risks would have grown from day to day had no action been taken.

Latin American nations have shed their reluctance to move against Cuba and support the U. S. stand unanimously. This was a blow to the Kremlin which had relied on the possibility of important defections.

Washington now has seized the initiative so long exercised by the Soviet Union. It is inconceivable that it will be relinquished while the communist worldwide threat exists. The reptile is squirming, but it must not be permitted to strike out in a new direction from this day onward.

Happy New Year

News comes from Washington that the 1962 income tax forms are rolling from the Government Printing Office presses. They will not be much different from the 1961 edition. The taxpayer's signature line, for example, is being shifted from page 1 to page 2 on Form 1040.

In a way this is reassuring, for in the past announcements that 1040 had been simplified stirred hopes that were seldom realized. Last year 1040 was cut from four pages to two, but the accompanying instructions seemed as bulky and baffling as ever.

Perhaps this is inevitable. Back in 1958 Senator Watkins of Utah, stumped by a 212-word sentence in the instruction pamphlet, offered a prize to anyone who could rewrite it more briefly and clearly. More than 600 tried, but none was able to improve on the government's English to the judges' satisfaction. A Michigan engineer came closest, but his version, while shorter, was deemed too vulnerable to misinterpretation.

Obscurity seems unavoidable in forms that are designed to cover a multitude of different situations and circumstances. So most taxpayers who are not public accountants or tax lawyers—and even they sometime get confused—will go on being bewildered by all the business about nets and grosses and what's deductible and trying to find the elusive schedule that refers to line 18.

Although the government is installing equipment that will ultimately process all returns by automation, Internal Revenue Commissioner Caplin reassuringly opines that "our type of tax system cannot operate effectively without the human element." Anyway it is interpreted, that, it would seem, is the understatement of the year.

Castro Must Go

The Cuban Affair cannot be regarded as closed as long as Fidel Castro remains at the head of the Cuban state.

He is a Communist by his own declaration. As far back as 1948, Fidel Castro was involved in a Communist uprising in Bogota, Colombia. It was called the Bogotazo. Fidel Castro, with two Cuban students, were ordered to leave the country by an airplane furnished by the Cuban Embassy.

The Secretary of the Bogota Conference of 1948 was Roy Rubottom who was First Secretary of the American Embassy in Bogota. His associate in Bogota from 1947-1949 was William Wieland. It was this team of Rubottom and Wieland who made it possible for Castro to seize power in Cuba. Of course, it is not possible to pinpoint the final responsibility for a national error; nevertheless, it is an amazing coincidence that these two men emerged as sponsors for Castro. It is even more surprising that even after the publication of the Eastland reports, these men remain in public service.

President Kennedy has inherited, as every President must, a great many errors of judgement and of act which may lead to entanglements that may be of greater or lesser consequence. Ours is a continuous government and the day a President takes over, all policies and actions of the United States, not from the day he takes over but from the establishment of our government, become his responsibility. He may in a four or eight year period make a greater or lesser alteration, but he cannot change the course of events.

For instance, our basic difficulties today grow out of the Tehran and Yalta Conferences in the Roosevelt Administration, out of the Potsdam Conference in the Truman Administration and out of modifications of the Monroe Doctrine which began in the Hoover Administration, and were intensified in the Roosevelt, Truman, and Eisenhower Administrations. This was President Kennedy's inheritance. In addition he was faced by CIA activities which resulted in the Bay of Pigs fiasco.

Our people forget their inevitable slow process of change and assume that such an arrangement as "the Kennedy Administration" can function differently from "the Eisenhower Administration" overnight. It takes almost the first half of the first term of a President to make himself master of the enormous bureaucracy for which he is responsible to the American people.

When President Kennedy took office, the Cuban situation was fully developed with Castro, a Soviet agent, in charge. His task was to determine if he would reassert the Monroe Doctrine, invade Cuba, get rid of Castro and risk a Korean-type war. He chose forbearance in the hope of being able to concentrate on Berlin and to recapture the initiative in the American continent.

It was a difficult political manoeuvre and ran counter to public opinion which cried out for immediate action, particularly as it became clearer that Castro was a Soviet puppet. President Kennedy withstood the pressure of public opinion until the situation was just right for an immediate rather than a general purpose. The Sino-Indian War undoubtedly played some part in that decision. The danger of having atomic missiles in Cuba also affected the situation. The country was unanimously in support of the President. The Republicans were even more insistent than the Democrats that there had to be action. Only a few "accommodationists" believed that nothing could be done.

The one flaw in the President's action was to give the impression that he had promised not to invade Cuba. Actually that could not be promised to Khrushchev because Castro still is in Cuba and Castro remains a propagandistic if not a military menace. He can still upset the balance in other Latin American countries. He is a peril to the Western World. Castro must go.

Sooner or later the President will have to face that. The appointment of John J. McCloy, George W. Ball, and Roswell L. Gilpatrick to handle the crisis is most fortunate. These are solid citizens, excellent negotiators and sound of judgement. No man has had more experience in handling difficult negotiations than McCloy and he is not likely to be tricked by Castro. The President in this crisis is using talent to meet a tough situation.

Nevertheless, no one can satisfy American public opinion unless Castro goes and pronto.

THE LIBRARY of the Atlantic Insurance Company boasts the most complete set of marine disasters in the world. "I'll bet," joked a broker, "they even have a record of Noah's Ark." Inquiry proved that somebody at the insurance company had an excellent sense of humor, because back came this dossier: "Built about 2448 B.C. Gopher wood, pitched within and without. Length: 320 cubits, width, 52 cubits, height 35 cubits. Three decks. Equipped to carry animals. Owners: Noah and Sons. Last reported stranded on peak of Mount Ararat."

With nary one fish to show for his day with rod and reel, an amateur fisherman stopped at a market on the way home and thoughtfully bought a dozen trout. He then ordered the fish man to throw them to him one at a time. "When I tell my wife," he explained to the mystified fish man, "that I catch fish—I CATCH THEM!"

An anxious young suitor inquired of the proverbial younger brother the whereabouts of his beloved. "Keep your shirt on," counseled said younger brother. "She's upstairs working on her acceptance speech."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.

Could you have a womb cancer? Cancer of the womb neck grows for months without any symptoms.

Infection, childbirth or irritation may leave the neck of the womb vulnerable to cancer. Extra female hormones multiply the danger.

Most of the early cancers can be cured. But you have to seek them out and destroy them while they're still lurking silently. That's why you need a pelvic examination and "Pap" test at least once a year. The Pap test is merely a microscopic hunt for cancer cells in womb-neck secretion.

As these cancers grow, you'll notice bleeding or spotting, especially after walking, marital intimacy or other exertion.

A thick discharge begins as infection sets in. If you're over 35 with unusual bleeding or discharge—or a previous doubtful Pap test—the odds against cancer of the womb neck drop from 200 to 1 to 30 to 1.

Now you should have a pelvic examination and Pap test at least twice a year.

A different kind of cancer attacks the womb lining, usually after change of life. While this cancer strikes later, it's more often discovered early. The growing tumor quickly gnaws through tangles of blood vessels in the womb lining and bleeding and spotting begin.

Consult your doctor about any unusual discharge, bleeding or change in menstrual regularity. Consult him also if change of life lingers through your 50th year. That continual bleeding could be cancer.

Regular check-ups, including a routine pelvic examination, and the Pap test, are the only ways to discover early womb cancer. Routine testing saved more lives last year than ever before.

There was a President Kennedy forced a showdown—with photographs of the missile bases in Cuba and a demand they be removed—Premier Khrushchev no longer pretended the weapons in Cuba were just defensive.

He backed down and agreed to remove them.

This therefore has a direct bearing on any future American-Soviet talks about disarmament because of the obvious question:

How could the Russians ever be believed—if they agreed to destroy some of their weapons—unless there was a fool-proof inspection system to make sure they weren't lying again?

If now the Russians keep their word and remove the missiles from Cuba this will still be no reason for the United States to take their unchecked word on disarmament in the future.

The Russians promised to pull their weapons out of Cuba because they knew, if they didn't, the United States might invade Castro's domain.

If that happened and the Soviet didn't go to Castro's aid, they would have suffered a worse defeat and humiliation than by meekly agreeing to remove the missiles which would have been the cause of war in the first place.

And they probably wouldn't have gone to his help because Cuba was the wrong place for them to have a war.

After the Russian performance in Cuba, American public opinion probably would prevent any president from making an American-Soviet disarmament agreement without inspection.

Khrushchev agreed to some kind of U.N. inspection of the missile removal although he never spelled out how, either on the spot as it happened or afterwards when the inspectors could be shown empty bases but not missiles.

Thursday night Castro announced he wouldn't permit any U.N. inspection at all. This, intentionally or not, enables Khrushchev to avoid the inspection he agreed to if there's no change in the situation.

The Soviet lies about the missile buildup in Cuba will come back to haunt them if in the future they were to seriously want disarmament but balk at inspection.

It's questionable either side so far has ever truly wanted disarmament, despite all their talks. And, for some time to come, probably neither side will want it.

The 17 years since World War II have been a period of frantic development of both nuclear weapons and long-range missiles which, in the possession of either side, would be the best insurance against attack, as Cuba proved.

But until recently the United States and Russia had pretty much of a monopoly in this field of fantastic weaponry. The monopoly is sure to end and is ending now. France has been building its own atomic force.

Red China in time will do the same. So may others, like West Germany, although that may seem unthinkable at this moment.

Even if the United States and Russia agreed on disarmament, it would be ridiculous without agreement by Red China. And, unless Red China was part of such an agreement, the United States and Russia could hardly dare disarm.

The problem with an American-Soviet agreement to ban nuclear tests is not quite the same as getting rid of weapons. Both sides, through refined detecting devices, might be able to check on tests without on-the-spot inspection.

Collection of Winter Hats

By SUSAN BARDEN

Jean Patou, renowned member of the Parisian Haute Couture, presented these hats as part of his collection for autumn and winter. These pictured are excellent examples of the shapes preferred by M. Patou. This year he definitely likes high-rising crowns and domes. He also feels that covering the hair, with just a suggestion of bangs peeping out, is another important look.

Hats fit snugly over the temples and usually cover the nape of the neck. They rise up in the middle, giving plenty of room, so as not to disturb an intricate coiffure. This style is also a great boon to busy ladies who haven't had time to get to the hairdresser.

For daytime there are many bonnets with and without cowl. Cloches are very much in evidence to complement suits and dressess and there are numbers of face-framing silhouettes that can be worn either with street clothes or with spectator sports costumes.

After-dark hats can be huge and glamorous or small and glittery. The large ones go beautifully with cocktail outfits and the smaller glitter domes are ideal with dinner or evening gowns.

Circleville's Leading Store for Misses and Women

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren

Pros and Cons

DEAR ABBY: You're a great one sticking up for children who claim they are abused by clerks who wait on adults first. You even agree that some kids steal because "it's easier to walk out with something than to get a cashier to wait on them!"

Abby, have you ever seen some kids in a grocery store running down the aisle with carts, knocking over displays and bumping into customers? Their mothers sit in the car and half the time the kids get the wrong things, don't have enough money or they lose their change. If parents want to teach Junior how to handle money and shop, they should do it on their own time, and not during the rush hours.

BEAT CASHIER

DEAR ABBY: This is for merchants who forget that children one day grow up to be customers. I still live in the town where I grew up, and I make it a policy never to trade at the stores where I was pushed aside by the clerks while adults who came n after I did were waited on ahead of me. They say elephants never forget. A child's memory is sometimes better.

GOOD MEMORY

DEAR ABBY: My neighbors gave me a shower just before I had my third baby. My little angel was stillborn. I was just going to pack the baby gifts up and put them away, but my neighbor told me to take them back and buy something nice for myself.

I want to do what is right, Abby. If I were to take the gifts back I would rather put the money toward a stone for the baby. Would this be wrong?

MRS. PUZLED

DEAR MRS. PUZLED: If you plan to have another baby, put the gifts away. Otherwise, take them back and do whatever you please with the money. I am sure your neighbors would not mind if you were to buy yourself a nice gift.

DEAR ABBY: If a husband dies shortly after a divorce, is the ex-wife considered a widow just as though there had been no divorce?

SATCH

DEAR SATCH: NO! A widow is considered a widow only when her HUSBAND has passed away.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3'65 Beverly Hills, Calif.

It's not necessary to pare zucchinis before cooking. But do scrub the squash in cold water with a vegetable brush and cut off the ends.

UMBRELLA CLOCHE — Black feather curls create this big and dramatic hat, with the cover-all appeal of a wig.

GOLD AND BLACK TULLE — Manipulated deftly to form a handsome high round dome with a black velvet bandeau.

Collection of Winter Hats

By SUSAN BARDEN

Jean Patou, renowned member of the Parisian Haute Couture, presented these hats as part of his collection for autumn and winter. These pictured are excellent examples of the shapes preferred by M. Patou. This year he definitely likes high-rising crowns and domes. He also feels that covering the hair, with just a suggestion of bangs peeping out, is another important look.

Hats fit snugly over the temples and usually cover the nape of the neck. They rise up in the middle, giving plenty of room, so as not to disturb an intricate coiffure. This style is also a great boon to busy ladies who haven't had time to get to the hairdresser.

For daytime there are many bonnets with and without cowl. Cloches are very much in evidence to complement suits and dresses and there are numbers of face-framing silhouettes that can be worn either with street clothes or with spectator sports costumes.

After-dark hats can be huge and glamorous or small and glittery. The large ones go beautifully with cocktail outfits and the smaller glitter domes are ideal with dinner or evening gowns.

Personals

Miss Mary Jane Watt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Watt, 540 N. Court St., has recently become a member of The Assembly in Columbus. Miss Watt is a graduate of the Columbus School for Girls and Bennett College, Millbrook, N. Y.

Homemaker News

By MISS EMMA LOU TACKETT

Home Economics Agent

Much of the comfort and beauty of a room depends on the arrangement of its furnishings. Most families plan to use a room for certain activities. You will enjoy any activity — work, play, or rest — more if furniture is arranged for easy use.

Furniture should be arranged in groups that your family requires — for sewing, reading, writing, or eating. To view television, for example, arrange furniture for eye comfort.

List the ways you plan to use the room. Look at the size and shape of the room and the built-in features. Determine whether there is a part of the room which is especially attractive. Decide where you need traffic paths.

If there is an attractive feature in a room, emphasize it. This feature may be a single large object — a group of windows, fireplace, bookcase — or an interesting group of small objects. Arrange furniture to direct attention to the desired object and to balance it.

BALANCE means an equal distribution of emphasis or apparent weight. The size, shape, or color of objects effect their apparent weight. Brilliantly colored objects appear heavier than dull ones while light colored articles may attract more attention than dark ones — depending upon the background against which they are seen.

Objects are balanced in relation to a center of space. Two objects identical in size, shape, and color will balance at equal distances from a central point.

Objects unequal in weight or attraction balance each other at unequal distances from a center. Objects that have greater attraction should be nearest the center. An object that appears half as heavy as another, for example, would be placed twice as far from the center as the heavy one.

Arrange furniture so opposite walls of the room are about equally attractive. Unless half of the room appears as heavy as the other half an unpleasant, tipped appearance results.

Background color should allow furniture and people in a room to appear to best advantage. Objects in a group of furnishings should harmonize with each other and with the entire room.

Use color in accessories to accent the color scheme of a room. A vase, arrangement of flowers, or a decorative fabric of the same color but more intense than the rest of the room, for example, will sum up the color scheme of the room.

PLACE the largest pieces of furniture first when arranging rooms. Put pieces such as desk, table, sofa or piano where each will provide the greatest convenience and where there is sufficient wall space. Single large articles are seldom attractive or convenient in the center of the room. The largest article of furniture usually demands the longest wall space.

Place large pieces of furniture and rugs parallel to the boundary lines of the room. You may place a large piece of furniture at right angles to the wall as a divider. Smaller furniture placed at angles offers variety, but avoid too many angles. Put tall and short articles so furniture of the same height is not all on one side of the room.

An architectural feature such as a door, window, fireplace or built-in furniture may balance a large piece or group against the opposite wall.

Consider such decorative objects as pictures, pottery, mirrors or fabrics as a part of the group. Arrange them so they will balance the unit.

Arrange table runners or mats parallel to the surface they decorate. Do not crowd the tops of the furniture; arrange articles on them to secure balance. Make one object or a group of objects the center of interest on the table, mantel or shelf, and subordinate other things. Remove unnecessary articles.

Fall Clean-Up Helps Prevent Disease Surge

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

A fall clean-up in your garden will help prevent disease in next year's plants.

Many disease-causing organisms will live during the winter on crop refuse that is allowed to remain on the soil surface. To reduce this carry over, plow under all crop refuse this fall.

The decay of this refuse will allow the disease organisms to come in contact with soil organisms, thus hastening their breakdown.

If plowing under is impractical rake the refuse together and use it on compost pile or place it in some part of the yard not used for flower or vegetable production. Leave the refuse for two years before returning to the garden to avoid the danger of disease.

Heavily diseased plants should be burned to destroy the disease organisms. Burning should be done only in severe cases, however, as much valuable humus is destroyed.

Farm Facts . . .

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

RURAL ZONING ordinances have no effect on existing land uses, according to Ohio State University Extension Rural sociologists.

WORKING with individual farmers and with groups, the Agricultural Extension Service has encouraged the application of research findings for the benefit of all people.

PRICES expected for turkeys in 1962 should not discourage large-scale operators. The result should be a 1963 turkey crop about the size of this year's, predict Ohio State University Extension Poultry economists.

THE TREND for Ohio potato growers is to plant either larger and larger acreages or none at all.

RURAL AREAS Development is making a major USDA effort to keep farm communities prosperous and to restore prosperity to those by-passed by technological developments.

A RADICALLY new experimental cotton spinning machine, developed by USDA engineers, may be an important step toward eventual automation in cotton spinning mills.

OBSERVATION wells only three-eighths of an inch in diameter, accurately record changes in water table depth more quickly than standard 4-inch wells, USDA scientists report.

Contrary to folklore, the desert bighorn sheep cannot derive enough moisture from plants to survive. But the sheep can live for two weeks or longer without drinking water.

Farmers Are Still Receiving Smaller Percentage of Dollar

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

The farmer's return on each quart of milk has decreased from 56.3 per cent in 1948 to 45.3 per cent in 1960.

In actual returns per quart the farmer in 1948 received 11.26 cents as compared to 10.2 cents in 1960. However, the cost of a quart of milk to the consumer has gone up to 22.5 cents in 1960 from 20 cents in 1948.

In taking a closer look at the cost of a quart of milk, the marketing costs represent the increased cost to the consumer. In 1948 the hauling costs of a quart of milk from farm to plant was one cent per quart, co-op deduction one-tenth cent, plant receiving and processing costs three cents, selling and delivery costs four cents, administration cost and profit .64 of one cent, with the farmer getting 11.26 cents, making the retail costs to the consumer 20 cents per quart.

In 1960, the hauling costs from farm to plant remained the same at one cent per quart, the co-op deduction one-tenth of a cent, the plant receiving costs increased from three to five cents, the selling and delivery costs increased to 5.2 cents, administration costs were one cent per quart plus the farmer's 10.2 cents, making the 1960 price per quart to consumer 22.5 cents. If the farmers share had remained the same then retail milk would have cost more yet in 1960.

PROCESSING, administration and labor costs represent the greatest increase in the retail costs of farm products to consumers. This can be clearly pointed out in other products as well as milk.

Take, for example, eggs which require little processing. The farmer's share of the consumer's dollar is 64 per cent. Then on the other extreme, corn flakes, a product involving considerable processing, the farmer's share of the consumer's dollar is only 10 per cent.

I believe that it should be pointed out that even with higher retail consumer food costs, the farmer continually receives a smaller percent of the consumer dollar and that processing and consumer demand of particular type processing absorbs the increase.

Seven Cattle Farms To Host Tour Group

Seven beef cattle farmers in Northwest Ohio will open the gates of their feedlots to visitors Nov. 7 and 8. The occasion is a cattle tour sponsored by the Ohio Cattlemen's Assn. and the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service.

Extension Agent George Hamrick said host farmers handle an average of 400 cattle each maintain an average of three silos and have mechanized feedlots. They handle various types and ages of cattle, and all have had experience in feeding high moisture corn.

Four stops, which will be the same both days, are scheduled for the farms of Ray Rupp, Charles Rupp, Orval Short and Wallace Nelson, all of near Archbold; Keith Humbert of Fayette; and Maurice Jones and R. J. Eichler, both of Wauseon.

Persons will assemble at the Luginbuhl Auction market here and groups will move out at 30-minute intervals, beginning at 9 a. m.

THE TOUR is scheduled for two days instead of one to avoid conflicts with local events and to provide greater ease in handling the number of persons expected to attend.

The Pickaway County Cattle Feeders are making the tour by chartered bus on Nov. 8. The bus will leave from the County Extension Office at 6:30 a. m. Farmers desiring to make this tour may contact the Extension office for reservations.

Much of the comfort and beauty of a room depends on the arrangement of its furnishings. Most families plan to use a room for certain activities. You will enjoy any activity — work, play, or rest — more if furniture is arranged for easy use.

Furniture should be arranged in groups that your family requires — for sewing, reading, writing, or eating. To view television, for example, arrange furniture for eye comfort.

List the ways you plan to use the room. Look at the size and shape of the room and the built-in features. Determine whether there is a part of the room which is especially attractive. Decide where you need traffic paths.

If there is an attractive feature in a room, emphasize it. This feature may be a single large object — a group of windows, fireplace, bookcase — or an interesting group of small objects. Arrange furniture to direct attention to the desired object and to balance it.

BALANCE means an equal distribution of emphasis or apparent weight. The size, shape, or color of objects effect their apparent weight. Brilliantly colored objects appear weight. Brilliantly colored objects appear heavier than dull ones while light colored articles may attract more attention than dark ones — depending upon the background against which they are seen.

Objects are balanced in relation to a center of space. Two objects identical in size, shape, and color will balance at equal distances from a central point.

Objects unequal in weight or attraction balance each other at unequal distances from a center. Objects that have greater attraction should be nearest the center. An object that appears half as heavy as another, for example, would be placed twice as far from the center as the heavy one.

Arrange furniture so opposite walls of the room are about equally attractive. Unless half of the room appears as heavy as the other half an unpleasant, tipped appearance results.

Background color should allow furniture and people in a room to appear to best advantage. Objects in a group of furnishings should harmonize with each other and with the entire room.

Use color in accessories to accent the color scheme of a room. A vase, arrangement of flowers, or a decorative fabric of the same color but more intense than the rest of the room, for example, will sum up the color scheme of the room.

PLACE the largest pieces of furniture first when arranging rooms. Put pieces such as desk, table, sofa or piano where each will provide the greatest convenience and where there is sufficient wall space. Single large articles are seldom attractive or convenient in the center of the room. The largest article of furniture usually demands the longest wall space.

Place large pieces of furniture and rugs parallel to the boundary lines of the room. You may place a large piece of furniture at right angles to the wall as a divider. Smaller furniture placed at angles offers variety, but avoid too many angles. Put tall and short articles so furniture of the same height is not all on one side of the room.

An architectural feature such as a door, window, fireplace or built-in furniture may balance a large piece or group against the opposite wall.

Consider such decorative objects as pictures, pottery, mirrors or fabrics as a part of the group. Arrange them so they will balance the unit.

Arrange table runners or mats parallel to the surface they decorate. Do not crowd the tops of the furniture; arrange articles on them to secure balance. Make one object or a group of objects the center of interest on the table, mantel or shelf, and subordinate other things. Remove unnecessary articles.

It is impossible to resign from the French Academy.

THE TOUR is scheduled for two days instead of one to avoid conflicts with local events and to provide greater ease in handling the number of persons expected to attend.

The Pickaway County Cattle Feeders are making the tour by chartered bus on Nov. 8. The bus will leave from the County Extension Office at 6:30 a. m. Farmers desiring to make this tour may contact the Extension office for reservations.

Fall Clean-Up Helps Prevent Disease Surge

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

A fall clean-up in your garden will help prevent disease in next year's plants.

Many disease-causing organisms will live during the winter on crop refuse that is allowed to remain on the soil surface. To reduce this carry over, plow under all crop refuse this fall.

The decay of this refuse will allow the disease organisms to come in contact with soil organisms, thus hastening their breakdown.

If plowing under is impractical rake the refuse together and use it on compost pile or place it in some part of the yard not used for flower or vegetable production. Leave the refuse for two years before returning to the garden to avoid the danger of disease.

Heavily diseased plants should be burned to destroy the disease organisms. Burning should be done only in severe cases, however, as much valuable humus is destroyed.

Background color should allow furniture and people in a room to appear to best advantage. Objects in a group of furnishings should harmonize with each other and with the entire room.

Use color in accessories to accent the color scheme of a room. A vase, arrangement of flowers, or a decorative fabric of the same color but more intense than the rest of the room, for example, will sum up the color scheme of the room.

Farmers Are Still Receiving Smaller Percentage of Dollar

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The farmer's return on each quart of milk has decreased from 56.3 per cent in 1948 to 45.3 per cent in 1960.

In actual returns per quart the farmer in 1948 received 11.26 cents as compared to 10.2 cents in 1960. However, the cost of a quart of milk to the consumer has gone up to 22.5 cents in 1960 from 20 cents in 1948.

In taking a closer look at the cost of a quart of milk, the marketing costs represent the increased cost to the consumer. In 1948 the hauling costs of a quart of milk from farm to plant was one cent per quart, co-op deduction one-tenth cent, plant receiving and processing three cents, selling and delivery costs four cents, administration cost and profit .64 of one cent, with the farmer getting 11.26 cents, making the retail costs to the consumer 20 cents per quart.

In 1960, the hauling costs from farm to plant remained the same at one cent per quart, the co-op deduction one-tenth of a cent, the selling and delivery costs increased to 5.2 cents, administration costs were one cent per quart plus the farmer's 10.2 cents, making the 1960 price per quart to consumer 22.5 cents. If the farmers share had remained the same then retail milk would have cost more yet in 1960.

PROCESSING, administration and labor costs represent the greatest increase in the retail costs of farm products to consumers. This can be clearly pointed out in other products as well as milk.

Take, for example, eggs which require little processing. The farmer's share of the consumer dollar is 64 per cent. Then on the other extreme, corn flakes, a product involving considerable processing, the farmer's share of the consumer dollar is only 10 per cent.

I believe that it should be pointed out that even with higher retail consumer food costs, the farmer continually receives a smaller percentage of the consumer dollar and that processing and consumer demand of particular type processing absorbs the increase.

Seven Cattle Farms To Host Tour Group

Seven beef cattle farmers in Northwest Ohio will open the gates of their feedlots to visitors Nov. 7 and 8. The occasion is a cattle tour sponsored by the Ohio Cattle-men's Assn. and the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service.

Extension Agent George Hamrick said host farmers handle an average of 400 cattle each maintain an average of three silos and have mechanized feedlots. They handle various types and ages of cattle, and all have had experience in feeding high moisture corn.

Tour stops, which will be the same both days, are scheduled for the farms of Ray Rupp, Charles Rupp, Orval Short and Wallace Nelson, all of near Archbold; Keith Humbert of Fayette; and Maurice Jones and R. J. Eichler, both of Wauseon.

Meadows Apt To Respond to Topdressing

Many legume-grass meadows would respond in terms of extra yields if they were topdressed with phosphate and/or potash this fall, says George Hamrick, County Extension agent.

Topdressing meadows will help insure winter survival of the legume, Hamrick said.

For a vigorous, full stand of alfalfa, extra potash often is the element most needed, particularly if the soil potassium level is medium to low, the county agent said.

General recommendations suggest an application of 250 to 350 pounds to the acre of 0-10-30 or 0-20-20 fertilizer grade. For soils low to medium in potassium, and where there is a fair to good stand of alfalfa, the yield next year might be improved from one to three tons an acre, Hamrick says.

A soil test can help determine the current nutrients status of the soil, Hamrick added.

Mao Hopes Soviets To Oust Khrushchev

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Mao Tse-tung hopes the Soviet people will one day rise against Premier Khrushchev, says a former member of a Communist Chinese legation.

Chao Fu, 27, former security officer of the Red Chinese legation in Stockholm who fled to the West last August, said Mao hopes the Soviet people will recognize Khrushchev's anti-Stalinism as anti-Communism.

The Chinese leader said recently "whoever is against Stalin is against Mao," Fu reported.

Fu made the statements at a news conference held by the West German intelligence service on Wednesday. Publication of the interview was barred until today to give the refugee time to leave the area.

Production Of Vegetables Shows Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Production of fresh vegetables this fall is down materially from a year ago and prices are expected to average significantly higher than in the fall of 1961.

The Agriculture Department says consumer demand for fresh vegetables continued strong during 1962. During the winter and spring of 1962 production was moderately smaller and prices to growers averaged materially above a year earlier.

During this past summer, both production and prices were near that of a year earlier, but this fall production turned down and prices are expected to move upward, compared with a year ago.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department says a poultry disease causing losses of more than $100 million annually can be controlled.

This disease, known as chronic respiratory disease in chickens and infectious sinusitis or airsacculitis in turkeys, is caused by the organism Mycoplasma gallocephalum.

A department scientist, Dr. O. L. Osteen, outlines some of the steps that should be taken to control the disease:

Establish and maintain proper sanitary procedures on the poultry farm. These include isolating the poultry house, disinfecting footwear of everyone entering the poultry house, disinfecting equipment before using it around the flock, and limiting the use, especially for broilers, of life-virus vaccines to combat other respiratory diseases.

WASHINGTON (AP)—An experimental camera that can propel itself through underground drain-clogged tiles has been devised by an Agriculture Department engineer.

The camera, designed as a research tool by Hollis Shull of the department's research service at Brawley, Calif., can be used to inspect more tile than is possible when a random line is dug up and examined.

Studies show that the device can help farmers find clogged spots in their drainage systems without the expense of excavating the lines.

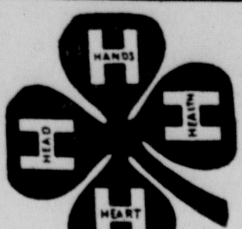

Ohio To Expand Prison Policy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For the first time in its history, Ohio soon may have two reformatories receiving prisoners directly from its courts, Correction Commissioner M. C. Koblent says.

The Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield presently receives all reformatory prisoners — men between 16 and 30 who never have served time previously for a felony. Exceptions are those older than 21 who are sent to Ohio Penitentiary at the specific direction of a judge, or those sentenced for murder, who also go to the penitentiary.

During the first part of 1963, the new Lebanon Correction Institution may begin receiving prisoners directly from the courts, rather than by transfer from Mansfield, Koblent said.

4-H Club News

By EDWIN D. TAYLOR
County Extension Agent, 4-H

W. B. Wood, director of the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service, has announced the appointment of Albert F. Gehre a state 4-H club leader.

Wood's announcement followed approval of the appointment by Ohio State University's Board of Trustees. Gehres has been supervising the work of the state 4-H club office since the retirement of H. W. Harshfield July 1, 1961. He was named acting state 4-H club leader in March.

A native of Van Wert County, Gehres has had experience as a farmer, vocational agriculture teacher, and Extension worker. After receiving his Bachelor's degree from Ohio State, he joined the armed forces, serving four years during World War II. Three years of that service was with the Quartermaster Corps in Puerto Rico where he supervised native workers in the operation of an 85-acre vegetable farm.

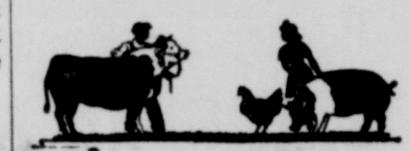

Following his military service, he farmed for two years in Williams County and taught vocational agriculture for three years in West Unity, O. In 1950 he joined the Agricultural Extension Service as a 4-H club agent in Williams County. Two years later he became acting county agent in that county and in 1953, joined the state Extension staff in Columbus as a 4-H club district supervisor.

GEHRES took a leave of absence in 1958-59 to study at the University of Wisconsin, where he received his Master's degree. Upon his return to Ohio State he was named associate state 4-H club leader.

He assumed leadership of the state 4-H organization at a time when membership totals a record 87,000 boys and girls and is still climbing. Project work also is expanding to meet changing needs of boys and girls.

"Many of our new club projects, especially for older members, emphasize training for careers,"

Don't let anybody tell you milk isn't necessary on Sundays!

Your family can raid the refrigerator on Saturday night and leave you in a fix for the weekend.

Milk can be spilled. Unexpected guests can drop in with youngsters.

And you can just plain forget. Nobody's perfect.

If you need milk for your children on Sunday, you need it, and you have a right to get it when you run out.

But they're trying to take that right away from you by dragging out Ohio's 131-year-old Blue Law and telling you it forbids milk and bread sales on Sundays because they're not "necessary". Where's all this pressure coming from? From the merchants who don't operate on Sundays and would like to eliminate the small food and dairy stores that do.

Low-powered beer can be sold on Sunday—there's no legal question about that. But they're closing dairy stores in Ohio right now. If the wave of closings hasn't reached your community yet, you can look for it soon.

Ohio's housewives and mothers can do something to stop them at the polls next Tuesday.

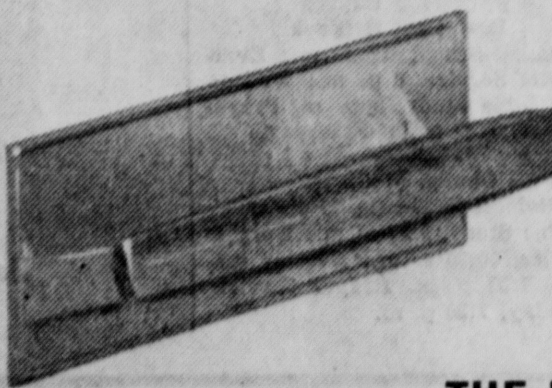

If you want to be able to keep on getting fresh milk and food items when you run out, you'll have to guarantee that right by voting YES for the Sunday Necessities Amendment.

Vote YES for honest Sundays. Vote YES for Issue #1.

The Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield presently receives all reformatory prisoners — men between 16 and 30 who never have served time previously for a felony. Exceptions are those older than 21 who are sent to Ohio Penitentiary at the specific direction of a judge, or those sentenced for murder, who also go to the penitentiary.

During the first part of 1963, the new Lebanon Correction Institution may begin receiving prisoners directly from the courts, rather than by transfer from Mansfield, Koblent said.

4-H Club News

By EDWIN D. TAYLOR
County Extension Agent, 4-H

W. B. Wood, director of the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service, has announced the appointment of Albert F. Gehre as a state 4-H club leader.

Wood's announcement followed approval of the appointment by Ohio State University's Board of Trustees. Gehre has been supervising the work of the state 4-H club office since the retirement of H. W. Harshfield July 1, 1961. He was named acting state 4-H club leader in March.

A native of Van Wert County, Gehre has had experience as a farmer, vocational agriculture teacher, and Extension worker. After receiving his Bachelor's degree from Ohio State, he joined the armed forces, serving four years during World War II. Three years of that service was with the Quartermaster Corps in Puerto Rico where he supervised native workers in the operation of an 85-acre vegetable farm.

Following his military service, he farmed for two years in Williams County and taught vocational agriculture for three years in West Unity, O. In 1950 he joined the Agricultural Extension Service as a 4-H club agent in Williams County. Two years later he became acting county agent in that county and in 1953, joined the state Extension staff in Columbus as a 4-H club district supervisor.

GEHRE took a leave of absence in 1958-59 to study at the University of Wisconsin, where he received his Master's degree. Upon his return to Ohio State he was named associate state 4-H club leader.

He assumed leadership of the state 4-H organization at a time when membership totals a record 87,000 boys and girls and is still climbing. Project work also is expanding to meet changing needs of boys and girls.

CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO

Don't let anybody tell you milk isn't necessary on Sundays!

Your family can raid the refrigerator on Saturday night and leave you in a fix for the weekend.

Milk can be spilled. Unexpected guests can drop in with youngsters.

And you can just plain forget. Nobody's perfect.

If you need milk for your children on Sunday, you need it, and you have a right to get it when you run out.

But they're trying to take that right away from you by dragging out Ohio's 131-year-old Blue Law and telling you it forbids milk and bread sales on Sundays because they're not "necessary". Where's all this pressure coming from? From the merchants who don't operate on Sundays and would like to eliminate the small food and dairy stores that do.

Low-powered beer can be sold on Sunday—there's no legal question about that. But they're closing dairy stores in Ohio right now. If the wave of closings hasn't reached your community yet, you can look for it soon.

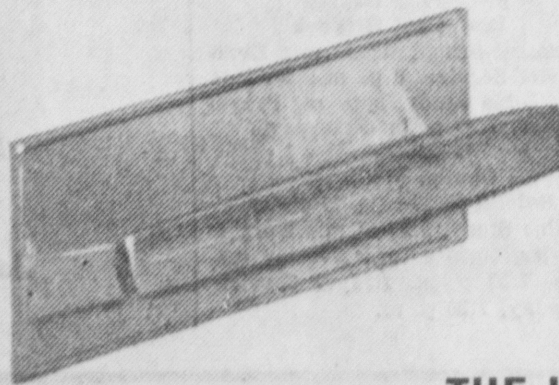

Ohio's housewives and mothers can do something to stop them at the polls next Tuesday.

If you want to be able to keep on getting fresh milk and food items when you run out, you'll have to guarantee that right by voting YES for the Sunday Necessities Amendment.

Vote YES for honest Sundays. Vote YES for Issue #1.

Rivers Run Chartreuse

PIKEVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — If the Sequatchie River turns a greenish yellow, it will mean a geological riddle has been solved.

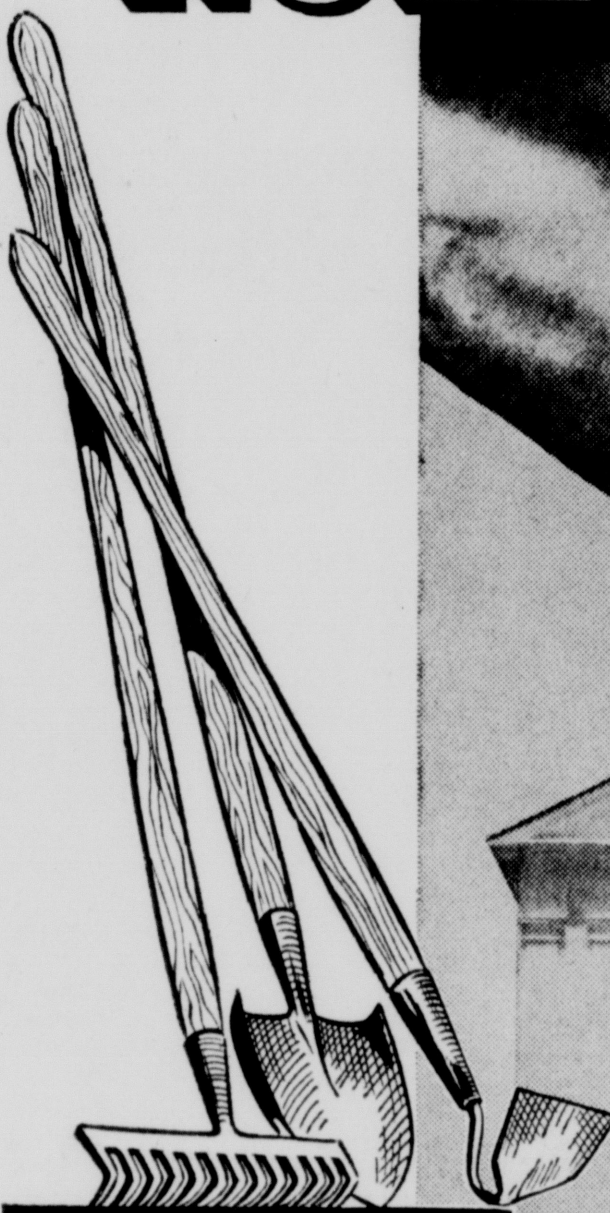

Old timers in the Sequatchie Valley contend the southeast Tennessee river originates at Mill Cave in Cumberland County. Streams from that area flow into the cave and disappear, and many believe the water seep under the Cumberland Mountains and emerge at a big spring at the visible beginning of the Sequatchie.

So geological engineers plan to put a harmless dye into the streams flowing into the mill cave — and if the dyed water appears at Sequatchie Spring, the old timers' belief will be affirmed.

Most cheers indicate approval or acclaim, but at least one is derogatory — the famous Bronx cheer.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Rivers Run Chartreuse

PIKEVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — If the Sequatchie River turns a greenish yellow, it will mean a geological riddle has been solved.

Old timers in the Sequatchie Valley contend the southeast Tennessee river originates at Mill Cave in Cumberland County. Streams from that area flow into the cave and disappear, and many believe the water seep under the Cumberland Mountains and emerge at a big spring at the visible beginning of the Sequatchie.

So geological engineers plan to put a harmless dye into the streams flowing into the mill cave — and if the dyed water appears at Sequatchie Spring, the old timers' belief will be affirmed.

Most cheers indicate approval or acclaim, but at least one is derogatory — the famous Bronx cheer.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

CHS, Miami Trace Bandsmen Entertain Large Grid Crowd

Circleville and Miami Trace High School Bands, two top-flight units, gave out with some sparkling entertainment prior to and during halftime of last night's rousing football game on the local gridiron.

Circleville's portion of the half-time show was devoted to that all-around American Samuel Clemens, better known as Mark Twain. Trace moved at a lively pace to spell out all those good times "On Sunday Afternoon." Bleachers were jammed. A full house of fans greeted the two bands.

Drum Major Norma Easterday and her corps of majorettes, all decked out in bright red leotards for the second straight week, directed their musicians through all the antics and colorful background that surrounded the noted author and weaver of fine tales. Much of the performance was based on pen characters Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn.

The CHS bandsmen rendered all the fitting music and proper maneuvers and formations for a realistic touch. In particular was the impressive steamboats that were so common at Clemens' boyhood home at Hannibal, Mo.

THE TIGER band concluded its regular performance with the typical Block C formation and the playing of the "Red and Black." The unit came back following the game for a victory march up and down the gridiron in honor of the CHS football team which laid claim to the SCO grid championship by way of a 14-6 verdict.

The visiting Miami Trace Bandsmen moved into several catchy formations to keynote their theme, including a giant roller coaster, with the majorettes portraying the rolling, bouncy car.

Dog-Killer To Undergo Psychiatric Examination

CINCINNATI (AP) — Donald Bamberger, 30, faces psychiatric tests in Municipal Court after pleading guilty to charges of killing a dog he said chased his daughter. Judge William Keating ordered the tests, contending Bamberger's hitting the dog twice with a baseball bat was far beyond necessity.

Bamberger's attorney said his client's 5-year-old son had been bitten by another dog a week before.

Steel Demand Dip Predicted

Slight Drop Expected At End of December

CLEVELAND (AP) — The nation's steel demand, now near its fourth-quarter peak, probably will start falling toward the end of the month, the magazine Steel predicted today.

"The drop won't be a sharp one, but it's sure to be reflected in lower ingot production," said the publication.

Production in November is predicted at 7.5 million tons, or less compared with 7.7 million tons in October.

Output has been at a fairly steady rate for about eight weeks. Mills this week are expected to turn out about the same as the 1,768,000 tons Steel estimated the industry poured last week.

Barring a change in the international situation, the publication said the steel market may not rise much above its present level until March.

According to Steel, a move aimed at cutting in half the cost of hauling iron ore down the Great Lakes is being seriously considered. The proposal: Convert two ore boats into unmanned vessels and build a powerful tug to pull them. While one barge is being towed up the Great Lakes, the other will be at a lower lake port for unloading.

Steel scrap prices are now at the lowest level in 13 years. Steel's price composite on the key grade, No. 1 heavy melting, is down 34 cents to $24.33 a gross ton, lowest since August, 1949.

Actor Wary about Success As Elder Television Priest

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — At first blush, Leo G. Carroll seemed the least likely candidate for the Barry Fitzgerald role in the television version of "Going My Way."

After all, he is one of the most urbane and accomplished of English actors, seemingly as far removed from the folksy, Irish Father Fitzgibbon as he might be from Sergeant Bilko.

But after a few weeks of playing the elder priest to Gene Kelly's Father O'Mally, he seems as right as rain in the part and may be destined for another siege of popular acclaim. He views this as a mixed blessing.

Concerning the attention of television fans in public, he comments with mild distress: "As an actor, I don't mind being talked about. You have to be, if you want to stay in the business. It's just that I don't like to be talked to."

A distinguished actor on the London and Broadway stage since World War I and a steady performer in films ("Wuthering Heights," "Rebecca"), he had enjoyed a good living and a pleasant anonymity. He was well respected within his own profession but merely a faintly recognizable face to the general public.

Then came "Topper." The television series ran two seasons on the network with Carroll in the title role. It is still running hither and yon on the umpteenth re-run. Carroll became known to millions.

"It got to the point that once when I touched down in Goose Bay, Newfoundland, on a plane flight, the children there came up and asked me for my autograph," he said. "They had seen 'Topper' on television."

Ohio Senate Control May Be Very Close

Poll Tuesday Is Seen
Telling Whether GOP
Or Dems To Command

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Political control of the next Ohio Senate quite possibly might hinge on a single vote.

The lineup after next Tuesday's votes are counted could be 17-16 either way in next year's 33-member upper house. Republicans control the present 38-man senate 20-18.

If Republicans retain control, the deciding vote could be that of Majority Leader C. Stanley Meechem, Nelsonville Republican. The Ohio Supreme Court has ruled he is entitled to complete his four-year term even though his district has ceased to exist because of lack of population.

The key contests in the battle for Senate control appear to be in opposite ends of the state.

In the 7th-8th District made up of Adams, Gallia, Jackson, Lawrence, Meigs, Pike, Scioto and Vinton counties, Democratic Sen. J. Sherman Porter of Gallipolis is battling for his political life against a comeback bid by former Republican Sen. Oakley C. Collins of Ironton.

In the 24th-26th District (Ashtabula, Geauga, Lake and Portage counties), the contest is for the seat of Democratic Sen. Milton Cox, who was defeated for renomination. The Democratic nominee is Michael D. Coffey, Mentor attorney. The Republican candidate is Rep. Robert E. Stockdale, Kent public relations consultant.

Since the advent of four-year Senate terms four years ago, figuring membership in each succeeding session is something akin to solving a Chinese riddle.

Stated simply, there are 14 holdovers for the next session beginning in January — nine Republicans and five Democrats. There are two vacancies, one in each party, which will be filled in Tuesday's election. Both vacancies apparently will be filled by members of the same party which held the states last. That would make the lineup 10-6 Republican.

Barring unexpected upsets, Republicans appear sure to elect five, four incumbents and one other, and the Democrats six, five incumbents and one other. That would make the lineup 15-12, still in the GOP's favor.

That leaves six seats on what might be called the uncertain list. Five are held by Democrats and one is a new, two-year term for Toledo. Democrats are figuring Fraier Reams Jr. will top Republican Rep. John J. Connors Jr. in the two-year term contest in Toledo.

Where the Democrats to retain the other five, they would control the next Senate, then, by an 18-15 edge. But if Republican Collins wins in the 7th-8th and Republican Stockdale takes Coffey's measure in the 24th-26th, the Republicans will have a 17-16 majority.

The uncertain list also includes these Democratic incumbents: 2nd-4th (Brown, Butler, Warren and Clermont counties); Incumbent Democrat Edward H. Dell of Middletown is being challenged by Rep. Charles H. Jones, Hamilton Republican.

3rd (Montgomery and Preble counties) Incumbent Democrat John C. Smith of Dayton is opposed by Republican Jack W. Hutson, Kettering attorney.

35th (Summit County); Incumbent Democrat L. E. E. Dugan, executive secretary of the Akron Labor Council, is opposed by Republican Ed Garrigan, Akron insurance man.

The vacancy on the Republican side was caused by the death of Sen. J. E. Simpson, Hardin County. 'Nightmare Week' in Cuban Crisis Brings Secrecy Veil

EDITOR'S NOTE — This third article of Reiman Morin's five-part series on the Cuban crisis describes the U.S. military buildup and total secrecy that was MAINTAINED.

By REIMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Nightmare week" in Washington, beginning Oct. 15, was a race against the clock.

With unbelievable speed, the Russians were building missile bases in Cuba. Mobile, medium-range weapons, already in position, could reach 22 bases of the Strategic Air Command, the nuclear striking force on American soil. How soon would they be operational?

One photograph of a site near Guanajay, Cuba, shows three large bulldozer scars in the ground. But nothing else. Not even a stick. On the same site, photographed five days later, there are buildings, pavements, erecting cranes, vehicles.

This is for the intermediate missile. Range—2,000 miles. How can it be defanged?

On Saturday night, Oct. 20, Mrs. Dean Rusk, wife of the secretary of state, brought a carton of soup to his office. It was the nearest thing to a home-cooked meal he had tasted since "nightmare week" began.

An official told his secretary, as he left his office, "I'm just going down the hall." She didn't see him again for three days.

As they attacked the central problem—basically the problem of how much time was left—President Kennedy and his team had two great advantages.

One was military.

In a relatively short time, the Defense Department assembled and coordinated land, sea and air forces for a big operation. Obviously, they were in a state of readiness.

For one thing, some of the machinery put in operation for the Berlin crisis last year was still working. For example, the Reserve fleet destroyers, put into active status for Berlin, were still in operation. Duty was extended for Navy personnel, so that the usual high manpower loss was reduced.

Further, the Navy and Marine Corps months ago set up the plan for the annual training exercise in Puerto Rico. It rejoined in the name Phibriglex — Amphibious Brigade Landing Exercise.

As the Cuban crisis began to boil, the ships and Marine units assigned to this exercise already were concentrated in the Caribbean. The commander was a Spanish-speaking native of Puerto Rico, Vice Admiral Horacio Rivero.

In short order, 6,000 more Marines were flown to the East Coast from Camp Pendleton, Calif. A supersonic striking force, the 19th Air Force—which was sent to Lebanon in that crisis in 1958—quickly came on the scene.

Thus, in a military sense, the race against time was not so desperate.

Kennedy's other advantage, visible in the conference rooms where the quarantine decision finally was hammered out, was that he had a close-knit team.

The Bay of Pigs, naturally, is still an aching confusion in Washington memories. That was the scene of the abortive Cuban invasion, April 17, 1961.

Nevertheless, in describing the conference machinery, one of the central figures harked back to the Bay of Pigs.

"We were in office only a little over three months when that one came along," he said. "We didn't know each other very well. The President had no clear sense of what weight to put on what each of us said at that time. This time he did. And each of us had a better sense of what was moving the other."

They examined contingencies, as well as the alternative action courses. They tried to envision everything that could go wrong. At one time, until further photographic evidence dispelled all doubt, they even considered the possibility that the Soviet installations in Cuba might be a colossal hoax.

Secretary Dean Rusk presided at the meetings at the State Department with Kennedy at the White House.

From the first, Rusk opposed invasion. He advocated a choice of action short of a maximum use of force. The eventual decision, for a blockade, was in line with what he wanted.

Along with speed, the need for total secrecy was of paramount importance. More often than not in Washington, the official secret has the life-expectancy of a fruit fly, say 24 hours. But in this case, the day and night conferences, the comings and goings, the feverish evaluation of new photo evidence, the troop orders—one of the biggest secrets in American history stayed secret.

Officials used side doors and private elevators. They stopped signing the entry-registers for after-hours callers in security buildings.

Kennedy and Rusk in particular contributed to the smoke screen thrown over the deliberations.

The President left Washington to make political speeches during "nightmare week." In New Haven, Conn., he cracked jokes about "my fellow Elms." He looked like a man having fun as he blasted the Republicans.

Rusk entertained the Soviet foreign minister, Andrei A. Gromyko, at dinner in the State Department. (A decision-making meeting was taking place in the room below at the same time.)

And he saw a number of foreign dignitaries, including the crown prince of Libya.

It was the week of the ticking clock, the race against time and the Russians.

Ohio GOP Delegation Says 'I Told You So' about Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio's Republican congressmen, sharp critics of President Kennedy on the home front, generally gave him strong backing in his quarantine of Cuba.

But there was little let up in GOP sniping at Kennedy's domestic policies as the Cuban news caught many members of Congress deep in campaigns for reelection.

And, although generally backing Kennedy's action to force removal of Soviet missiles from Cuba, several members expressed "I told you so" sentiments," saying strong action against Fidel Castro's government should have been taken sooner.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester, dean of the Ohio GOP delegation, said "many feel the lateness of his (Kennedy's) decision may make the solution of the problem more difficult."

Brown said the Cuban crisis will also "test the real value of the United Nations and the loyalty of many of our Allies."

Rep. Frank T. Bow of Canton echoed his Republican colleagues in a statement issued from Canton:

"I hope the President realizes that he has the American people solidly behind him with regard to Cuba."

"His decision came as a dramatic end to almost three years of frustration during which the conviction grew among Americans that we must do something about the Communist threat in Cuba."

Rep. Samuel L. Devine of Columbus said, "Congress and the American people stand firmly resolved to protect the security of this country and will back any action he (Kennedy) make take, including the use of the armed forces."

Rep. Frances P. Bolton of Cleveland, ranking Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, was another Ohioan expressing support of Kennedy's strong Cuban action. But she had a few harsh words for his domestic policies.

"During the 21 months since President Kennedy took office," she said, "more than 550 legislative requests have emanated from the White House. In many instances these administration proposals appeared, for the most part, never to have more than two objectives — spending more money, or concentrating more power in the federal government, or both."

Lausche Rests OK In Naval Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio was reported Friday as resting well in Bethesda Naval Hospital, where he was admitted late Tuesday after suffering chest pains and fatigue.

An aide to Lausche, 66, who is seeking re-election in the Nov. 6 election, said doctors are continuing to make checks but that no report on the results is yet available.

Lausche is expected to remain in the hospital until after the election, the aide said.

NYC, Pennsy Rail Business Drop Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Columbia University professor predicted Friday that railroad freight business in the area served by the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads will continue to decline through 1970.

Dr. Ernest W. Williams Jr., professor of transportation in the University's Graduate School of Business, made the forecast at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing.

He was called as a witness by the two railroads in support of their application for ICC authority to merge their companies.

Williams said basic economic and industrial trends in the eastern railroad district seem to make a continued decline of freight business there inevitable.

The district includes Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and the District of Columbia.

Ohio Senate Control May Be Very Close

Poll Tuesday Is Seen
Telling Whether GOP
Or Dems To Command

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Political control of the next Ohio Senate quite possibly might hinge on a single vote.

The lineup after next Tuesday's votes are counted could be 17-16 either way in next year's 33-member upper house. Republicans control the present 38-man senate 20-18.

If Republicans retain control, the deciding vote could be that of Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, Nelsonville Republican. The Ohio Supreme Court has ruled he is entitled to complete his four-year term even though his district has ceased to exist because of lack of population.

The key contests in the battle for Senate control appear to be in opposite ends of the state.

In the 7th-8th District made up of Adams, Gallia, Jackson, Lawrence, Meigs, Pike, Scioto and Vinton counties, Democratic Sen. J. Sherman Porter of Gallipolis is battling for his political life against a comeback bid by former Republican Sen. Oakley C. Collins of Ironton.

In the 24th-26th District (Ashland, Geauga, Lake and Portage counties), the contest is for the seat of Democratic Sen. Milton Cox, who was defeated for renomination. The Democratic nominee is Michael D. Coffey, Mentor attorney. The Republican candidate is Rep. Robert E. Stockdale, Kent public relations consultant.

Since the advent of four-year Senate terms four years ago, figuring membership in each succeeding session is something akin to solving a Chinese riddle.

Stated simply, there are 14 holdovers for the next session beginning in January — nine Republicans and five Democrats. There are two vacancies, one in each party, which will be filled in Tuesday's election. Both vacancies apparently will be filled by members of the same party which held the states last. That would make the lineup 10-6 Republican.

Barring unexpected upsets, Republicans appear sure to elect five, four incumbents and one other, and the Democrats six, five incumbents and one other. That would make the lineup 15-12, still in the GOP's favor.

That leaves six seats on what might be called the uncertain list. Five are held by Democrats and one is a new, two-year term for Toledo, Democrats are figuring Fraier Reams Jr. will top Republican Rep. John J. Connors Jr. in the two-year term contest in Toledo.

Were the Democrats to retain the other five, they would control the next Senate, then, by an 18-15 edge. But if Republican Collins wins in the 7th-8th and Republican Stockdale takes Coffey's measure in the 24th-26th, the Republicans will have a 17-16 majority.

The uncertain list also includes these Democratic incumbents: 2nd-4th (Brown, Butler, Warren and Clermont counties); Incumbent Democrat Edward H. Dell of Middletown is being challenged by Rep. Charles H. Jones, Hamilton Republican.

3rd (Montgomery and Preble counties) Incumbent Democrat John C. Smith of Dayton is opposed by Republican Jack W. Hutten, Kettering attorney.

35th (Summit County): Incumbent Democrat Leo E. Dugan, executive secretary of the Akron Labor Council, is opposed by Republican Ed Garrigan, Akron insurance man.

The vacancy on the Republican side was caused by the death of Sen. J. E. Simpson, Hardin County. In the normally Republican 13th-31st District (Hardin, Logan, Seneca, Union, Wyandot, Crawford and Marion counties), GOP Rep. Robin T. Turner of Tiffin appears likely to defeat Democrat Louis Wren, Bellefontaine accountant.

The Democratic vacancy occurred when Sen. Stephen R. Olek, Youngstown, resigned to become Mahoning County auditor. In the normally Democratic district, Michael McCullion, Youngstown Democrat, probably will defeat Republican James H. Groce, a Hubbard clothing store opera-

By the end of the first quarter the determined Tigers had moved to the Trace 30. The key play of the first period, and one of the key plays of the game, came in that drive.

With a fourth and seven situation on the Panthers 36 yard line, the Tigers elected to go for the first down.

Garold Dade, on an off tackle slant, picked up the necessary yardage.

Shortly after the second quarter began, Freddie Moore bulled over from the one yard line for the touchdown. Ray Taylor booted the extra point to give the Tigers a 7-0 lead.

In the first quarter Circleville outgained Miami Trace 67 to 11. Both teams attempted just one pass. The Tiger aerial was good for seven yards and the Trace attempt fell incomplete.

NEITHER team scored for the remainder of the first half. Circleville moved the ball to the Miami Trace five with 38 seconds to go before halftime. On a Dave Han-

Circleville took the opening kickoff of the second half and marched 64 yards in 11 plays for its second score.

Moore again plowed through a horde of Trace defenders from one yard out for the touchdown, and a limping Ray Taylor placed the conversion through the uprights to give Circleville a substantial lead.

Craig took Fyffe's kick off on his 20 and returned it nine yards. The Panther passing combination of Larry Avey to Dave Craig and Carl Weaver started clicking. The dangerous combo picked up 42 yards through the air on four completed passes in a drive that finally ran out of gas on Circleville's 13-yard line.

The Tigers couldn't crack the Panther forward wall — they were playing ultra conservative football by now — and punted to the 44. A good rush by Trace forced Fyffe to hurry the kick. It slipped off the side of his foot and went for a mere 13 yards before sailing out of bounds.

Trace started to move again, but Hannahs came up with perhaps the top defensive play of the game when he intercepted a Avey pass intended for Weaver in the end zone. He ran it back to the 25-yard line before he was nailed.

THREE PLAYS failed to pick up the necessary yardage and Fyffe booted the ball to the Miami Trace 42. The Panther safety man returned it to midfield.

Avey went to the air again, hitting halfback Fred Hoppes for a 13-yard gainer. Another pass play, intended for Weaver, fell incomplete and then Bill Hall crashed the center of the line for three yards.

Avey then connected with Craig with a 32 yard pass at the three where he was hit immediately by Dave Hannahs.

Hall bulled over in two plays for the lone Miami Trace score. On the try for the extra points Hall headed around his own left end but was nailed short of the goal line on a smashing tackle by Hannahs.

At this point, time became the most important factor in the game. There was less than five minutes to play.

CIRCLEVILLE maintained possession of the ball for the remainder of the game, taking plenty of time in the huddle, going for a long count at the line of scrimmage and sticking to the ground.

One time in the final minutes they were called for taking too much time. The Panthers desperately used their time outs in the closing seconds, hoping to regain possession of the ball before the game was over.

After the game, Benhase lauded not only his own boys but the Miami Trace team as well.

The Tiger coach said in Craig and Weaver Trace had two of the best receivers on any high school football team around. He also had high praise for quarterback Avey, and the visitors' overall outstanding team play.

EXTRA POINTERS
Duke Fyffe led the Circleville ground attack last night. He gained 119 yards in 23 carries.

Garold Dade gained 82 yards in 13 carries. Both Dade and Fyffe outgained the Miami Trace total rush for the night.

The Panthers accounted for only 63 yards on the ground. They gained 108 through the air.

Circleville, not taking to the airways, piled up 29 yards in aerials. Hannahs completed four of eight attempts.

Big Clesson Thomas intercepted his first pass of the year just after Circleville made the initial touchdown. The bruising Tiger defensive end just put his head down and charged the Trace tacklers as they converged on him after the theft.

The game was full of key plays. The first was early in Circleville's first TD drive when Dade picked up the first down on a fourth and seven situation. Then Trace got a break on Thomas' fumble at the five yard line.

In the third period a Miami Trace receiver eluded the Tiger secondary and broke to the outside to take a pass, but the quarterback had thrown the pass down the center. Trace had to give up the ball on downs.

Hannahs intercepted a pass in the end zone to stop another Trace bid.

On the Trace try for the conversion, Hannahs nailed Hall before he crossed the goal line. This put the Panthers in the hole. They needed more than a tie to win the SCO Championship.

The win was quite a milestone in the coaching career of Carl Benhase. During the past seven years his teams have won four league championships. They have won 47 games, lost 13 and tied five.

If Circleville wins Friday when they play Franklin Heights it will give the popular CHS mentor a 48-13-5 career record.

Vikings Win Final Tilt At Plain City

Teays Valley High School finished its first year of football with a solid 20-6 win over Jonathan Alder at Plain City last night.

The Vikings wound up with a 6-2-1 record for the season, a commendable record considering the Vikings were not rated highly before the season.

But they turned out to be a darkhorse in the Darby Valley League. They won four games and tied one before dropping their first to a powerful West Jefferson team.

The following week Teays Valley lost to The Plains of Mt. Sterling, but came back strong last week with a decisive win over Greenview.

THE VIKINGS exhibited a staunch defense throughout the season, allowing only 1,090 yards total offense in nine games. Last night they played up to their usual standard, holding their Darby Valley League opponents to 67 yards on the ground and 125 through the air.

Jonathan Alder completed eight of 13 passes and ended up with seven first downs.

Teays Valley gained 240 yards rushing, and garnered nine first downs. They were penalized 30 yards.

Jonathan Alder was penalized 95 yards. The bulk of these penalties were for illegal procedure and offside.

Both teams battled to a scoreless deadlock through the first half. Jonathan Alder penetrated to the Teays Valley 22 yard line. A pass play that went all the way for the team from Plain City was called back on an illegal procedure penalty. Their offense bogged down at that point and Teays Valley took over on downs.

The Vikings took the opening kickoff off of the second half and marched all the way in nine plays for the first touchdown.

SENIOR backs Dan Hollenback

and Bill Pritchard combined to gain most of the yardage in the drive. John Rush had two carries.

Pritchard went in for the score from the four yard line.

Quarterback Dave Rose's pass to Seymour in the end zone for the extra points was incomplete.

The second Teays Valley touchdown drive moved 56 yards. Pritchard and Hollenback did the bulk of the carrying, and Pritchard picked up his second touchdown of the evening, bulging over from the two.

Dan Hollenback collected the conversion on a fullback wedge to put the Vikings ahead 14-0 at the end of the third period.

The final touchdown was set up by Dan Hollenback's 42 yard runback of an intercepted pass.

THE VIKINGS moved from the 10 in four plays with Dave Rose going the final four yards.

The Jonathan Alder score came on a long pass play after the Vikings held a 20-0 lead.

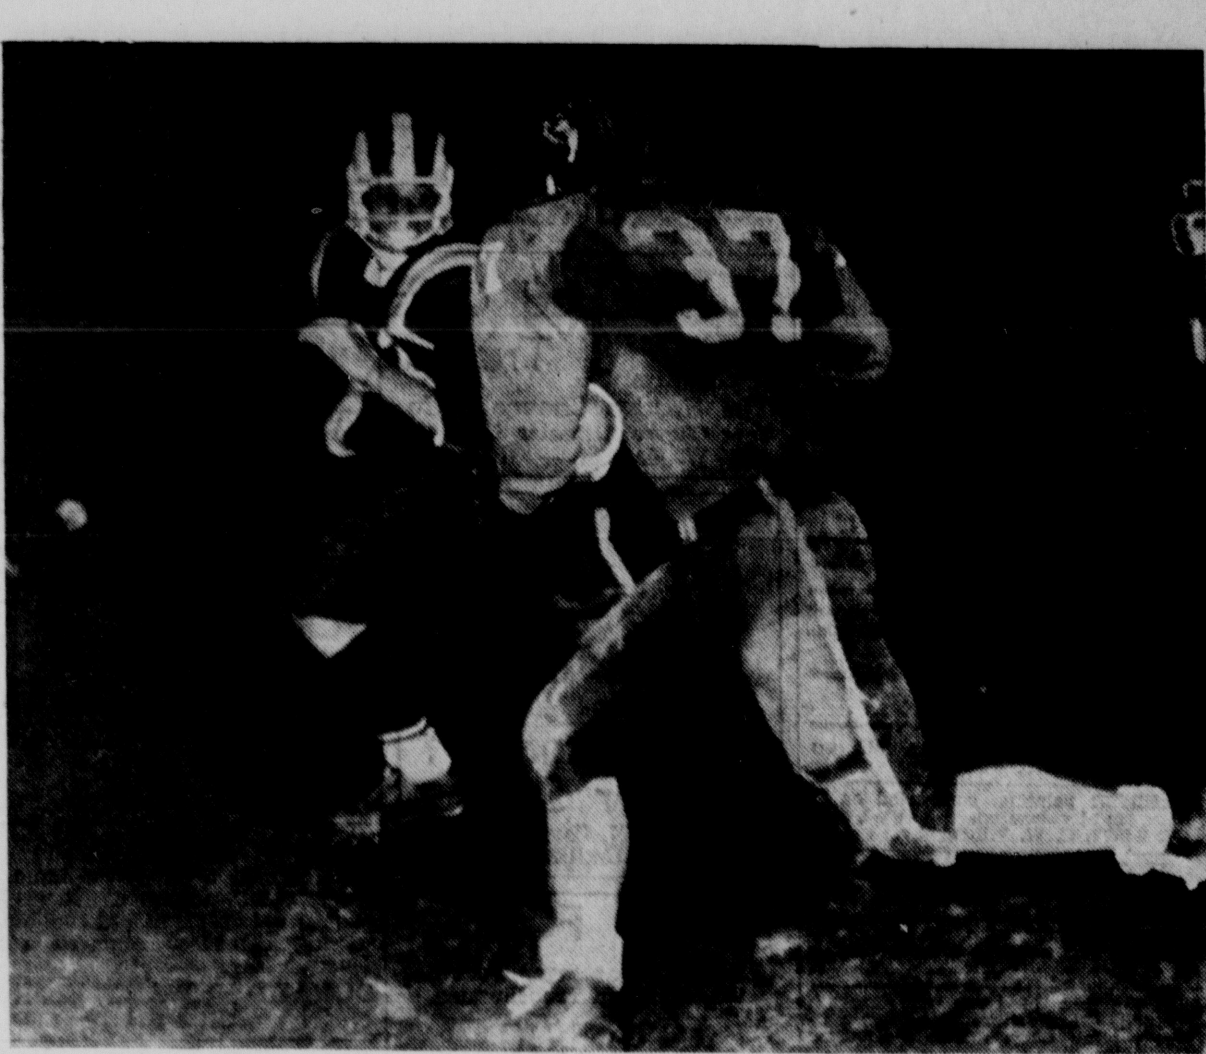

Marion Waites, head coach at Teays Valley, praised his senior backs Dan Hollenback and Bill Pritchard for their performance in the final game of the season.

Waites said Hollenback had his best night of the season gaining 116 yards in 16 carries. Pritchard scored two TD's and gained 48 yards in nine carries.

Quarterback Rose gained 45 in nine attempts and John Rush added 29 in eight carries.

Six seniors completed their high school grid careers last night. They were Hollenback, Pritchard, Jay Morrison, center, Ralph Swank, Ron Will and Jim Neal.

IN A DEFENSIVE switch Ralph Swank moved from tackle to end, and did an excellent job at his new position. Ron Will, defensive captain and linebacker also turned in a good performance in

THE DUKE RAMBLES — Duke Fyffe picked up good yardage on this play early in the second half touchdown drive. Fyffe's yardage output of 119 yards brought his season total to 780 yards rushing. Most of these yards came the hard way, right up the middle.

Deermen Open With Victory Over Kingston

Williamsport stepped off on its right basketball foot last night with a 73-63 victory over visiting Kingston.

Rick Pond, deadly from around the key, made the nets ring with 27 points for the winners. Bruce Willis wasn't far behind with 22 and teammate Cook was the third Deer in double figures with 10.

Kingston's scoring ace was Jack Shaw with 21 markers, followed by Harold Albert with 16, Beavers 12 and Hammond 10.

After a close first quarter, Williamsport pulled away from a 36-27 intermission advantage and a 50-40 edge at the end of the third period. The victors turned in a remarkable opening night from the field, hitting 26 of 54 for a hand-some 48 per cent. They also made good on 58 per cent of their free throws.

COACH Glenn Chester's winners employed a man-to-man defense in the early stages, then reverted to a tight press in the final chapter.

The Deers captured a close one in the reserve contest, racking a 35-34 decision for a double sweep.

Braves Crush Laurelville in 50-8 Grid Tilt

Logan Elm Needs 1 More Victory for Scioto Valley Crown

Logan Elm, going after a Scioto Valley Conference championship, blasted Laurelville, 50-8, last night to bring its league record to four wins and one loss.

If the Braves can pull a victory in the season finale next Friday when they host Paint Valley they can safely tuck the crown away.

Keith Merrin LE coach emptied the bench last night. Thirty-three players saw action, and all but three played two quarters. Those three played for more than one quarter.

Arnie Gabriel started the Brave scoring attack when he bulled over from four yards out with eight minutes gone in the first quarter. Terry Anderson went around right end for the extra points.

IN THE second period Anderson raced 13 yards off right tackle to score. He came back on the same play to add the points after touchdown.

Four minutes later he blasted off tackle for another touchdown. This time the try for the extra points failed.

At halftime the Braves led, 22-0. Gabriel lateraled the opening kickoff of the second half to Gary Hardman, and the speedy Logan Elm halfback raced 75 yards for the touchdown. Sophomore quarterback Jeff Lutz added the two extra points going around his own right end.

Minutes later, on the first play from scrimmage, Gabriel picked up 65 yards and the touchdown. A Lutz to Mike Clifton aerial accounted for the extra points.

Three minutes later Bill Huffman went three yards for the touchdown. The points after failed. Sophomore halfback Bobby Stant tallied the last Logan Elm TD, going 12 yards for the score. The try for the extra points failed.

LAURELVILLE scored its touchdown in the fourth quarter. DeLong earned the TD with 9:40 to go in the game, reaching paydirt from 19 yards out. Brookoff went over for the extra points.

Gabriel and Anderson paced the Braves ground attack as well as scoring most of the points.

Gabriel gained 102 yards in 11 carries while Anderson added 51 in five. Bob Stant gained 48 in three attempts for the best average per carry.

Anderson's 16 points was tops in this department, followed by Gabriel's 12.

Logan Elm garnered a total of 15 first downs while limiting the Wildcats to seven.

They accounted for 291 yards on the ground and none by air. Laurelville was held to 104 net yards.

THE BRAVES tried seven passes, completing one for a two point conversion. The Wildcats were unable to connect on a single aerial. Both teams intercepted a pass.

Logan Elm fumbled the ball three times and lost the ball once. The Braves recovered both of Laurelville's bobbles. The LE unit was forced to punt twice and the Wildcats three times.

Piketon and Paint Valley battled to stay alive in the Scioto Valley Conference last night with, Pike-ton winning 20-6.

The Braves must beat Paint Valley to win the SVC crown. The Bearcats are reportedly an improved team. Earlier in the season Logan Elm defeated the Ross County outfit, 30-8.

key plays of the game, came in that drive.

With a fourth and seven situation on the Panthers 36 yard line, the Tigers elected to go for the first down.

Garold Dade, on an off tackle slant, picked up the necessary yardage.

Shortly after the second quarter began, Freddie Moore bulled over from the one yard line for the touchdown. Ray Taylor booted the extra point to give the Tigers a 7-0 lead.

In the first quarter Circleville outgained Miami Trace 67 to 11. Both teams attempted just one pass. The Tiger aerial was good for seven yards and the Trace attempt fell incomplete.

NEITHER team scored for the remainder of the first half. Circleville moved the ball to the Miami Trace five with 38 seconds to go before halftime. On a Dave Hannahs to Cleson Thomas pass the pigskin was jarred from Thomas' hands and the alert Panthers recovered.

Circleville took the opening kickoff of the second half and marched 64 yards in 11 plays for its second score.

Moore again plowed through a horde of Trace defenders from one yard out for the touchdown, and a limping Ray Taylor placed the conversion through the uprights to give Circleville a substantial lead.

Craig took Fyffe's kick off on his 29 and returned it nine yards. The Panther passing combination of Larry Avey to Dave Craig and Carl Weaver started clicking. The dangerous combo picked up 42 yards through the air on four completed passes in a drive that finally ran out of gas on Circleville's 13-yard line.

The Tigers couldn't crack the Panther forward wall — they were playing ultra conservative football by now — and punted to the 44. A good rush by Trace forced Fyffe to hurry the kick. It slipped off the side of his foot and went for a mere 13 yards before sailing out of bounds.

Trace started to move again, but Hannahs came up with perhaps the top defensive play of the game when he intercepted a Avey pass intended for Weaver in the end zone. He ran it back to the 25-yard line before he was nailed.

THREE PLAYS failed to pick up the necessary yardage and Fyffe booted the ball to the Miami Trace 42. The Panther safety man returned it to midfield.

Avey went to the air again, hitting halfback Fred Hoppes for a 13-yard gainer. Another pass play, intended for Weaver, fell incomplete and then Bill Hall crashed the center of the line for three yards.

Avey then connected with Craig with a 32 yard pass at the three where he was hit immediately by Dave Hannahs.

Hall bulled over in two plays for the lone Miami Trace score. On the try for the extra points Hall headed around his own left end but was nailed short of the goal line on a smashing tackle by Hannahs.

At this point, time became the most important factor in the game. There was less than five minutes to play.

CIRCLEVILLE maintained possession of the ball for the remainder of the game, taking plenty of time in the huddle, going for a long count at the line of scrimmage and sticking to the ground.

One time in the final minutes they were called for taking too much time. The Panthers desperately used their time outs in the closing seconds, hoping to regain possession of the ball before the game was over.

After the game, Benhase lauded not only his own boys but the Miami Trace team as well.

The Tiger coach said in Craig and Weaver Trace had two of the best receivers on any high school football team around. He also had high praise for quarterback Avey, and the visitors' overall outstanding team play.

EXTRA POINTERS
Duke Fyffe led the Circleville ground attack last night. He gained 119 yards in 23 carries.

Garold Dade gained 82 yards in 13 carries. Both Dade and Fyffe outgained the Miami Trace total rush for the night.

The Panthers accounted for only 63 yards on the ground. They gained 108 through the air.

Circleville, not taking to the airways, piled up 29 yards in aerials. Hannahs completed four of eight attempts.

Big Cleson Thomas intercepted his first pass of the year just after Circleville made the initial touchdown. The bruising Tiger defensive end just put his head down and charged the Trace tacklers as they converged on him after the theft.

The game was full of key plays. The first was early in Circleville's first TD drive when Dade picked up the first down on a fourth and seven situation. Then Trace got a break on Thomas' fumble at the five yard line.

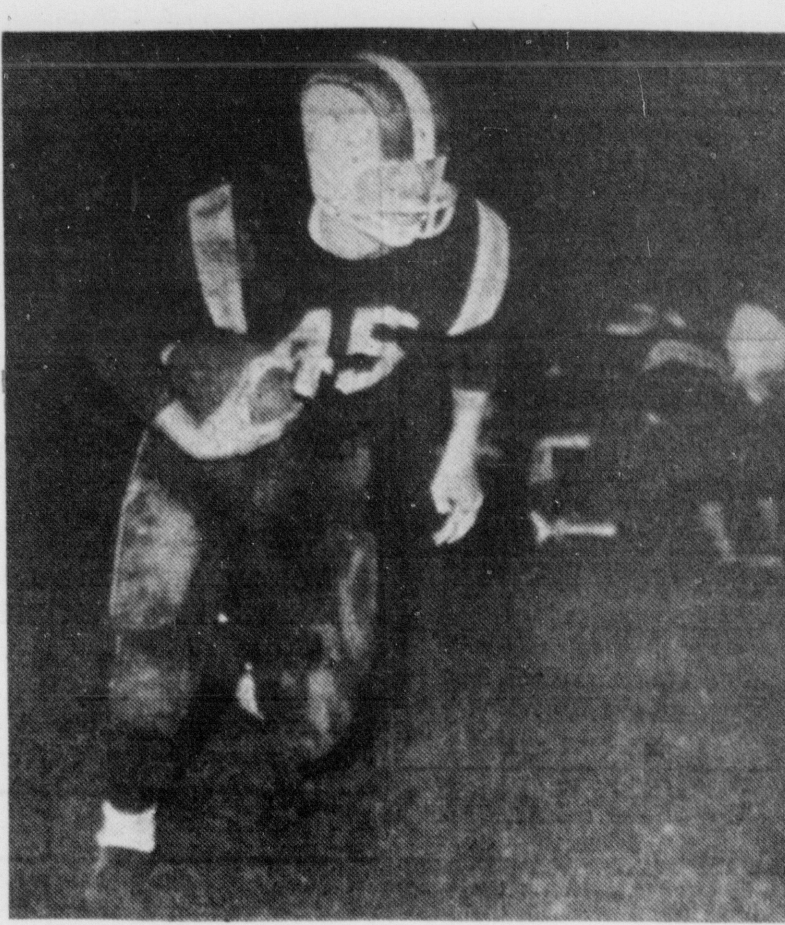

In the third period a Miami Trace receiver eluded the Tiger secondary and broke to the outside to take a pass, but the quarterback had thrown the pass down the center. Trace had to give up the ball on downs.

Hannahs intercepted a pass in the end zone to stop another Trace bid.

On the Trace try for the conversion, Hannahs nailed Hall before he crossed the goal line. This put the Panthers in the hole. They needed more than a tie to win the SCO Championship.

The win was quite a milestone in the coaching career of Carl Benhase. During the past seven years his teams have won four league championships. They have won 47 games, lost 13 and tied five.

If Circleville wins Friday when they play Franklin Heights it will give the popular CHS mentor a 48-13-5 career record.

PANTHER SCORE — Bill Hall, Miami Trace fullback, goes into the end zone standing up to score the Panthers' touchdown. He was Trace's leading groundgainer, picking up 34 yards for the night. (Photos by Ron Warren)

Vikings Win Final Tilt At Plain City

Teays Valley High School finished its first year of football with a solid 20-6 win over Jonathan Alder at Plain City last night.

The Vikings wound up with a 6-2-1 record for the season, a commendable record considering the Vikings were not rated highly before the season.

But they turned out to be a darkhorse in the Darby Valley League. They won four games and tied one before dropping their first to a powerful West Jefferson team.

The following week Teays Valley lost to The Plains of Mt. Sterling, but came back strong last week with a decisive win over Greenview.

THE VIKINGS exhibited a staunch defense throughout the season, allowing only 1,090 yards total offense in nine games. Last night they played up to their usual standard, holding their Darby Valley League opponents to 67 yards on the ground and 125 through the air.

Jonathan Alder completed eight of 13 passes and ended up with seven first downs.

Teays Valley gained 240 yards rushing, and garnered nine first downs. They were penalized 30 yards.

Jonathan Alder was penalized 95 yards. The bulk of these penalties were for illegal procedure and offside.

Both teams battled to a scoreless deadlock through the first half. Jonathan Alder penetrated to the Teays Valley 22 yard line. A pass play that went all the way for the team from Plain City was called back on an illegal procedure penalty. Their offense bogged down at that point and Teays Valley took over on downs.

The Vikings took the opening kickoff off of the second half and marched all the way in nine plays for the first touchdown.

SENIOR backs Dan Hollenback

and Bill Pritchard combined to gain most of the yardage in the drive. John Rush had two carries.

Pritchard went in for the score from the four yard line.

Quarterback Dave Reese's pass to Seymour in the end zone for the extra points was incomplete.

The second Teays Valley touchdown drive moved 36 yards. Pritchard and Hollenback did the bulk of the carrying, and Pritchard picked up his second touchdown of the evening, bulging over from the two.

Dan Hollenback collected the conversion on a fullback wedge to put the Vikings ahead 14-0 at the end of the third period.

The final touchdown was set up by Dan Hollenback's 42 yard run-back of an intercepted pass.

THE VIKINGS moved from the 10 in four plays with Dave Reese going the final four yards.

The Jonathan Alder score came on a long pass play after the Vikings held a 20-0 lead.

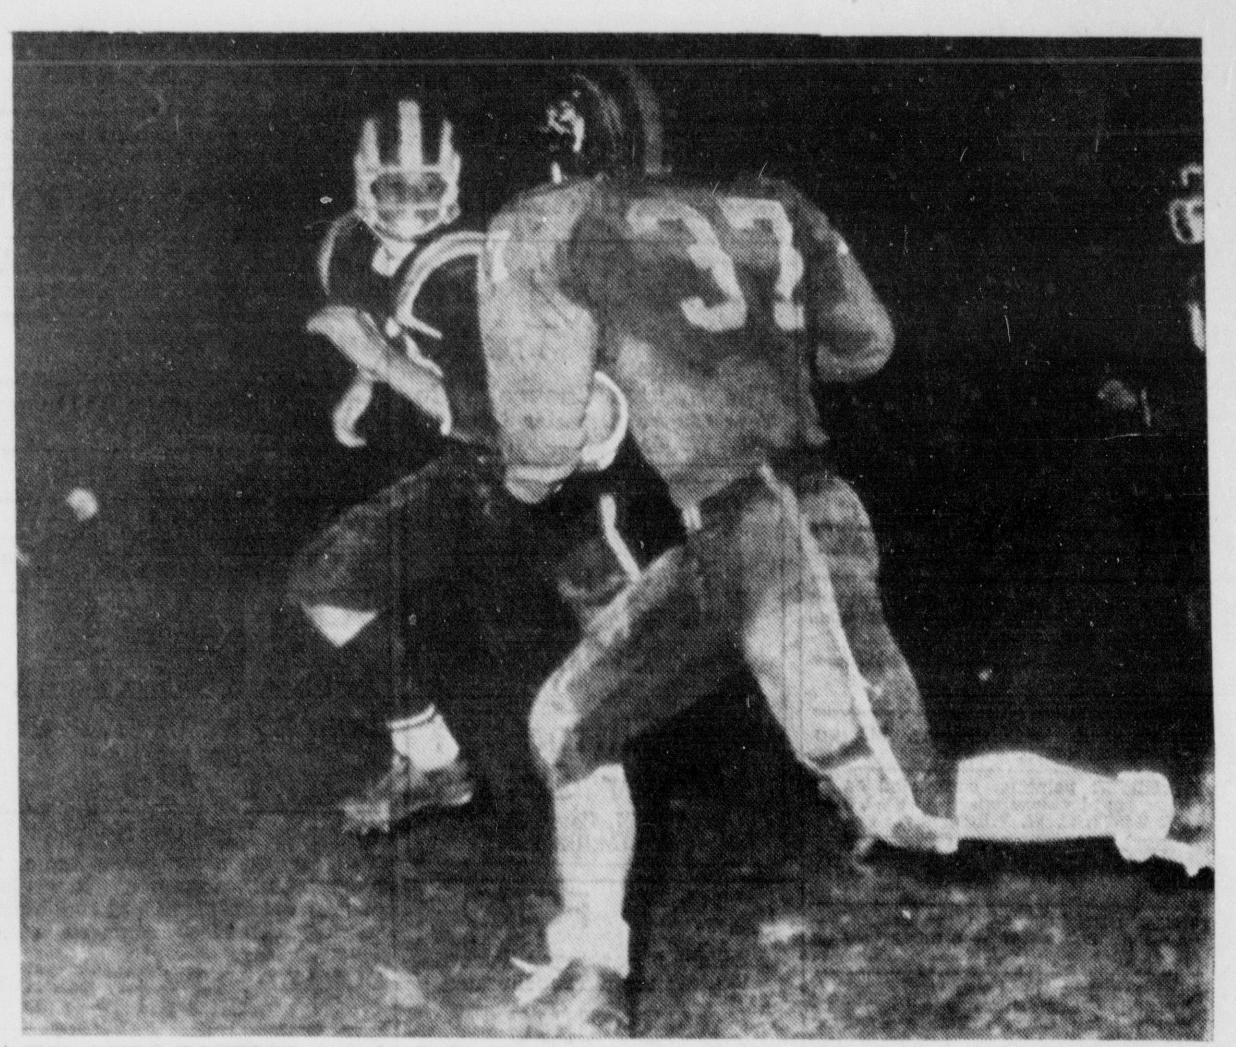

Marion Waites, head coach at Teays Valley, praised his senior backs Dan Hollenback and Bill Pritchard for their performance in the final game of the season.

Waites said Hollenback had his best night of the season gaining 116 yards in 16 carries. Pritchard scored two TD's and gained 48 yards in nine carries.

Quarterback Reese gained 45 in nine attempts and John Rush added 29 in eight carries.

Jackson Drops Season Opener To Clarksburg

Jackson opened its 1962-63 cage season last night with a 91-69 loss to a tall and rugged host Clarksburg.

Clarksburg, capitalizing on 37 points by Rhinehart and 18 by Large, was never in trouble after taking a 31-15 first quarter lead and a 45-30 halftime measure. The rangy Rhinehart was good for 16 buckets and five foul tosses.

Southpaw Edgar Martindale was a standout for Jackson, accumulating 21 points. He had able assistance from Dwight Whaley with 18 and Clark Maughmer with 17, but the combined effort was not enough to stop the rampaging hometowners.

The Jackson aggregation suffered a twin defeat, dropping the reserve tilt 37-30, despite 15 points by Bruce List. Junk was high for the winners with 11.

Wright's Tourney Lead Threatened

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Betsy Rawls, who once won 10 tournaments in a year but hasn't been going to the payoff window very much this year, was in a position today to prevent Mickey Wright from breaking the record they share.

Miss Rawls shot a 4-under-par 68 Friday for the first round lead in the $7,500 54-hole Civitan Open while Miss Wright, the favorite, was seven strokes away at 75. Miss Wright has won 10 tournaments this year and could get a record if she took first money here. Miss Rawls, who has won only once this year, 60's for the first time since spring.

Dick Anderson, Penn State end, will captain the Nittany Lion baseball team next spring. He's an outfielder.

Rookie catcher Bob Rodgers of the Los Angeles Angels was a high school pitcher. He tossed three no-hitters.

Celtics Back

In Lead of Pro Cage Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Things are beginning to look a little more normal in the National Basketball Association.

For the first time in the season the Boston Celtics are in sole possession of first place in the Eastern Division. For the five-time NBA champions to be anywhere else is something like the New York Yankees resting in fifth place in the American Baseball League.

The Celtics took over the top spot Friday night by virtue of a 107-97 victory over the Chicago Zephyrs. It was their fifth victory in six starts and pulled them out of a first place tie with Syracuse, which was idle.

In Friday night's other game Al Attles and Guy Rodgers led a fourth quarter drive that carried the San Francisco Warriors over the New York Knickerbockers 143-121. It was the seventh straight loss for New York.

Best winning streak ever compiled by the Detroit Tigers was 14 straight games. They did it in 1909 and again in 1934.
